PM's talk time nudge in Ukraine for peace

Says ready to play active role, pushes for talks to end war

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Friday sought to nudge Ukraine and Russia to the talks table without wasting any time to find a solution to end their ongoing war, in his interaction with Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy in Kyiv.

He added that he had come with a message of peace. This was the first visit of any Indian PM to Ukraine.

"We (India) are not neutral. From the very beginning, we have taken sides. And we have chosen the side of peace. We have come from the land of Buddha where there is no place for war," Modi said in his opening remarks during the talks with Zelenskyy. "I have come with a message of peace, from India and the Global South. We are ready to take part in peace efforts. Our approach is people centric and we support sovereignty and territorial integrity," Modi said.

He mentioned his meeting with Russian President Vladimir Putin last month where he reaffirmed that the resolution of the conflict should be through dialogue and diplomacy. "We come from the land of Buddha and Mahatma Gandhi and have always favoured peace. Both you and President Putin should sit across and find a solution."

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar later said Modi reiterated the need for "practical engagement" between all stakeholders to develop an innovative solution that will help build broad acceptability and contribute towards peace and stability. The prime minister conveyed India's willingness to contribute in all possible ways to facilitate an early return of peace to Ukraine, he said, adding it was a "very detailed, open and in many ways constructive discussion".

Modi arrived in Kyiv by train and the meeting between the two leaders lasted three hours. Earlier, they paid homage at the Martyrilogist Exposition, which honours the memories of children who have lost their lives in a Russian missile attack the day Modi was in Moscow in July. "Conflict is particularly devastating for young children. My heart goes out to the families of children who lost their lives, and I pray that they find the strength to endure their grief," said Modi, who placed a toy in their memory.

My visit to Ukraine was historic. I had productive talks with President @ZelenskyyUa. India firmly believes that peace must always prevail

Charges against CM: Notice to Lokayukta cops

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

TAKING serious exception to the conduct of the Lokayukta Police, the special court to try cases against sitting and former MPs/MLAs has issued a show cause notice to the investigation officer (IO) for failing to conduct a fresh probe into the allegations against Chief Minister Siddaramaiah in a bribery case, though the IO was directed to do so six months ago.

Noting that the Lokayukta Police did not bother to conduct the probe despite its directive issued on February 21, the court passed this order and marked a copy to the SP of Lokayukta to instruct the IO to comply with it.Investigating officer Thippeswamy HJ told the court that he was not informed about the directive and submitted that he could not obey it due to miscommunication.Taking exception to this, Judge Santhosh Gajanan Bhat ordered issue of the show cause notice and adjourned the hearing to September 12.

In his petition, former BBMP councillor NR Ramesh protested against the 'B' report filed by the Lokayukta Police. He alleged that Siddaramaiah, during his first stint as CM, received a cheque for Rs 1.3 crore on July 28, 2014, as bribe from L Vivekananda alias King's Court Vivek, managing director of Vivek Hotels, Mysuru, to appoint him as steward of Bengaluru Turf Club Limited.Based on this, the court issued a directive to register a private complaint and called for a status report from the Lokayukta Police. On June 7, 2023, the Deputy SP, Karnataka Lokayukta, filed a closure report contending that "there was no act of quid-pro-quo made out against the accused".

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

THE Securities and Exchange Board of India has banned industrialist Anil Ambani and 24 others, including key Reliance Home Finance officials, from the securities market for five years on charges of creating a "fraudulent scheme to siphon off money from the company by structuring it as loans to credit-unworthy borrowers". The regulator also slapped a fine of ₹25 crore on Ambani and restrained him from serving as a director or Key Managerial Personnel in any listed company for five years.

Apart from Anil Ambani, those debarred and fined include the former officials of Reliance Home Finance Amit Bapna, Ravindra Sudhalkar, and Pinkesh Shah. HC ASKS CBI TO TAKE OVER RG KAR CORRUPTION PROBE

SULAGNA SENGUPTA @ Kolkata

THE Calcutta High Court on Friday transferred the probe by the West Bengal government-constituted SIT into alleged financial irregularities at RG Kar Medical College and Hospital during the tenure of former principal Sandip Ghosh, to the CBI. The ruling came on a petition by the hospital's former deputy superintendent Dr Akhtar Ali seeking an Enforcement Directorate probe into the irregularities.

A single-judge bench of Justice Rajarshi Bharadwaj said that since the probe into the brutal rape-murder of a junior doctor at the hospital on August 9 has been entrusted to the CBI, investigation into this matter, too, ought to be transferred to the same agency to ensure a comprehensive and unbiased inquiry.

The HC directed the CBI to take over the investigation by Saturday 10 am by when the state administration must hand over all case-related documents including the case diary and CCTV footages. The CBI has been directed to submit a status report by September 17, when the HC will hear the matter next.

Meanwhile, a city court permitted the CBI to conduct a polygraph test on Ghosh and five others in connection with the rape-murder case.

Ride cancelling, surge pricing major plaints of Uber, Ola users: Survey

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

MORE than 85 per cent of Uber users experienced issues like drivers cancelling rides, talking on the phone while driving and surge pricing. Ninety-three per cent of Ola users complained of unclean vehicles, drivers talking on the phone and surge pricing. These were the results of a survey conducted by LocalCircles, a community social media platform for citizens and small businesses to escalate issues for policy and enforcement interventions.

The survey, released on Friday, revealed that of the 3,497 Uber users surveyed, 85% had one or more issues in the last 12 months --- 69% of respondents complained of 'drivers talking on mobile'; 54% spoke of 'surge pricing/ too expensive'; 46% stated 'driver cancelled ride'; 38% of respondents said, 'vehicle not clean'; 8% marked 'customer service not responsive'; 8% complained that 'driver not courteous'; 8% said they had "safety concerns with the driver" and 31% indicated 'other issues' not mentioned. However, 15% of respondents stated that they had no issues, it revealed.

Of the 3,503 Ola taxi users, 78% users reported 'surge pricing / too expensive'; 69% stated 'driver talking on mobile'; 69% pointed to 'vehicle not clean'; 62% stated 'driver cancelled ride'; 54% said 'driver not courteous'; 47% stated 'customer service not responsive' and 23% had 'safety concern with the driver'. In addition, 16% of the respondents did not give a clear answer. However, 7% stated that they had no grievance.

Similarly, of the 3,899 BluSmart users surveyed, 61% experienced one or more issues in the last 12 months. However, BluSmart users appreciated that the drivers do not cancel rides, cabs are clean and that no surge pricing is levied, the survey said.

The survey received over 10,000 responses from residents of Bengaluru -- 59% of them men and 41% women. The survey was conducted via the LocalCircles platform and all participants had to be registered with LocalCircles to participate in the survey.

As new services like Rapido, Indrive, and Namma Yatri expand taxi services in Bengaluru, there is clearly an opportunity to become a market leader by learning from the pros and cons of each one of these top 3 players, the survey said.

CAMPAIGN ON TO KEEP KIA FREE OF LITTER

20 tonnes of waste generated daily; Focus on positive behaviour, not fines

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

TO sensitise flyers on the need to discard paper cups, food and sanitary waste in designated bins, a massive anti-litter campaign is under way inside the Kempegowda International Airport premises. An average of 20 tonnes of all kinds of waste is generated daily by the around 1 lakh passengers who use the airport.

Cigarette butts in smoking zones and paan spittle outside the two terminal buildings is another eyesore the campaign is attempting to tackle. Anti-litter messages have been put up across both terminals, right from check-in counters to boarding gates and all eateries around.

A spokesperson of airport operator Bangalore International Airport Limited (BIAL) told TNIE, "We began the campaign recently. It is part of our commitment to environmental stewardship to encourage all users to actively combat littering. It aims to preserve a cleaner environment, keep public spaces clean, and support sustainable actions."

The spokesperson said, "Handling over 1 lakh passengers daily generates approximately 20 tonnes of waste, which presents significant challenges in effective source segregation and prevention of littering. To achieve optimal recycling and maintain a litter-free environment, proper waste segregation at source is essential."

A massive training programme was conducted for all airport employees to help them take part in the campaign. "Our dedicated team of nearly 800 staff members work round the clock to ensure the entire campus remains clean," he added.

Asked about public response, the spokesperson said it was too early to gauge it. "We are implementing a 360-degree communication strategy to spread awareness about waste segregation and responsible behaviour."

On penalties to be levied, the spokesperson said the priority was on fostering positive behaviour and cultivating a sense of pride in the airport's infrastructure. "We concentrate on raising awareness and inspiring individuals to take personal responsibility for maintaining a clean and welcoming environment," the spokesperson added.

Anti-litter campaign boards have been put up at Terminal 2 of KIA

NATIONAL SPACE DAY

CITY CELEBRATES INDIA'S MOON ODYSSEY

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BENGALURU-based Indian Institute of Astrophysics (IIA), along with its field stations across India, celebrated the first National Space Day on Friday to mark the country's successful conquest of the moon.

On August 23, 2023, India became the fourth country in the world to land on the moon and the first to reach its southern polar region. The event commemorates the success of the Chandrayaan-3 mission, the landing of the Vikram lander and the deployment of the Pragyan rover.

The space day featured numerous events across the city on the inaugural theme -- Touching Lives while Touching the Moon: India's Space Saga -- to celebrate India's achievements in space exploration.

IIA organised two public talks focused on the institute's space mission, astronomy from the space mission, and the significance of placing telescopes in space.

Scientist Rekhesh Mohan from IIA explained the significance of space-based telescopes and why they matter, stars and their evolution, spectral analysis, and the challenges of ground-based observations. He also shed light on the future of space-based astronomy and strategic locations for space telescopes.

The second session was based around 'Astronomy from Space Missions of India' by S Seetha from the Raman Research Institute of India (RRI), who delved into Astrosat, satellite technology and earth observations, and future space missions.

Mohan explained how the Aditya L1 mission, specifically its visible emission line coronagraph (VELC) instrument, is crucial for studying the sun's corona. He underscored how the mission highlighted the significance of placing telescopes in space, where they can collect data without interference from the Earth's atmosphere.

The Aditya L1 mission is part of a broader trend in space-based astronomy, he said while speaking about the future of space-based astronomy.

PG owners want a relook at new rules

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

THE recent guidelines issued by the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) for the running of paying guest (PG) accommodations have raised concern among owners of such establishments.

The PG Owners' Welfare Association contended that the decision to keep 70 sqft space per person and a limit on the number of inmates will lead to high rentals that will put many customers at a disadvantage. They are now planning to appeal to the civic body to take a relook at the guidelines.

Association president Arun Kumar said customers, mainly poor students from rural areas and other states, generally pay Rs 5,000 a month for a small room and three meals, and the Palike's move will force PG owners to increase the space and charge more, which may lead to losses as well.

"Many homeowners have converted their houses into PGs for their livelihood. They may find it difficult to hire two round-the-clock staff as their earnings will go towards the salaries of the employees. A site measuring 30x40 sqft can accommodate 40 inmates. This accommodation may also have about 12 bathrooms. PG owners also bear the cost of food, power, and water bills, as well as maintenance.

Guidelines like 70 sqft area per person, having a backup of CCTV footage for 90 days instead of 30 days, and having an employee 24x7 will impact the business of small-time owners, and many will be forced to shut down," said Kumar.

Association general secretary Chandrashekhar DS said students and job seekers opt for PGs as many government accommodations like hostels may not have sufficient space and may not prefer the food.

"In government hostels, fees and security deposits have to be paid annually, whereas in PGs, an advance for a month is enough, and inmates can shift whenever they want. This is affordable. The rules will be a bane to poor students," said Chandrashekhar.

The association is planning to take a delegation of PG owners soon to meet the BBMP Chief Commissioner and City Police Commissioner to seek their intervention in the matter.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

24TH August : The Moon is reaching a tipping point in its monthly cycle, a symbolic indication that we can all begin to speed up. Mind you, no two individuals are faced with exactly the same circumstances, so we'll all be making our own decisions. But people who are chronic over-workers may very soon find that they run out of energy.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Anything that happens now in the way of travel or overseas contacts will have major consequences for you or your loved ones over the coming months. If you understand that the most important planetary cycle is a very long-term one, then you'll gain a much better perspective on your daily ups and downs.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You can't bottle your feelings up for ever. Share all your thoughts and feelings today, and take any short journeys that are necessary. Very soon, perhaps over the next few days, a major family or domestic improvement will be moving from number ten on your list to number one.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
It's a splendid day to shell out some cash, but the stars are making no distinction between minor purchases and major investments, like a new house or two. There is no way you will be able to cut costs for a little while longer, but at least you can avoid needless waste.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You are in an excellent position to take the initiative, and should do so as soon as possible. Your lunar alignments put you in an almost unassailable position, and you should make sure that work is combined with pleasure. Hopefully employers and people in authority will appreciate your true talents.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
A series of brilliant planetary aspects is setting you up for a very special period. Begin this phase today by making various discreet enquiries and keeping certain feelings to yourself. You should also take practical matters into your own hands, lest other, less competent people, overlook essential details.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Partners may be making extra demands. You may continue to take the line of least resistance and give as much sympathy and support as you can. Don't fret, for any apparent retreat will be an advance in disguise. It's important that you lift your morale by letting your hair down socially.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Relationships dominate your thinking. If this is true, then your stars at the present are absolutely superb, and you should press ahead with radical changes at work or at home. Do realise, though, that everything depends on how other people react. Play your cards carefully.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You may be pulled in two directions, but then that gives you the chance to have your cake and eat it, doesn't it? Actually twenty-five hours per day will probably not be enough to accomplish all that is required at home or at work. Could your expectations be too high? I think they could!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Money and financial transactions are the most important item of the day, but longer-term transits indicate that legal issues, foreign connections and educational aspirations are absolutely central. In matters of the heart it's friendship that you want. Passion can wait until later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Home, property and domestic concerns are crucial to your happiness. You may have your own ideas, but you may allow other people to take the lead; a close partner will protect your interests. Give social engagements a very high priority: friends expect no less.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
One very major and historic planetary alignment is now in the past, but another, which is much more specific, is imminent and, whatever your wishes, whatever your ambitions, you should spare no effort over the next three days. There is no time to waste!

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You appear to be trying to avoid the important issues, but there is nothing unusual in this. There is everything to be said for enjoying yourself today, for who knows what tomorrow brings? Besides, there's absolutely no point in walking around with a long face.

Chain snatcher drags elderly woman for 20m, leaves her hurt

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

A 73-year-old woman had to undergo a surgery after she fractured her left hand when a chain snatcher dragged her for almost 20 metres in Kengeri.

The incident happened in front of her house on 6th main road, 7th Cross, Kengeri Satellite Town, last Saturday.

Muddamma was taking a stroll around 9.40 pm when an unidentified man approached her asking for an address. When Muddamma was guiding him, the accused tried to snatch the gold chain she was wearing. But Mudamma held on to her chain even as the accused dragged her for 20 metres. He managed to snatch her chain worth Rs 3.5 lakh and escaped with his associate, who was waiting for him on a motorcycle near the spot.

Muddamma not only fractured her left hand, but also suffered a deep cut on her forehead when she fell on the road.

"After the incident, my mother walked back home with bleeding injuries on her forehead and left hand. We immediately shifted her to a nearby hospital where she underwent the surgery. She also had three stitches on her forehead. Nobody was on the road when the incident occurred," C Suresh, Mudamma's son, told TNIE.

After Mudamma was taken to the hospital, the staff there alerted the police as it was a medico legal case. "We have recorded the statements of the elderly woman. We have analysed the CCTV footage from the vicinity and have obtained some clues," said a police officer.

Special attention will be given to gathering opinions from women doctors and private medical college managements to ensure the guidelines address all relevant concerns.

"Based on feedback from the medical community, we will soon release guidelines and advisories that will apply to all medical institutions," Dr Patil stated.

WITH the World Health Organisation (WHO) declaring Mpox a Public Health Emergency of International Concern (PHIC), Karnataka Medical Education Minister Dr Sharan Prakash Patil on Friday held a meeting to discuss the state's preparedness on Friday.

Dr Patil said that 50 beds in H-block of Victoria Hospital, Bengaluru, will be converted as an isolation ward to manage potential Mpox cases.

"I met officials from the medical education department to discuss strategies to contain Mpox. There is no need for alarm. We have implemented necessary measures," Dr Patil told the media after the meeting.

He further highlighted that the Health Ministry has already issued guidelines, and the Union Government has provided necessary advisories on Mpox management. "We have organised testing and screening facilities at Victoria Hospital and set up isolation beds. Tests will be conducted free of charge," Dr Patil added, noting that similar arrangements will be made at other hospitals if the situation demands.

Sharan Prakash, Medical education minister

To prepare for potential cases, 50 isolation beds have been reserved in Victoria Hospital's H Block and the hospital's VRDL lab and microbiology department are fully equipped to conduct the necessary tests, Dr Patil said. "Although no Mpox cases have been reported in India so far, hospitals affiliated with BMCRI are on high alert and ready to respond to any situation," he said.

Meanwhile, Dr Patil also announced that the Charaka Super-speciality Hospital will open on September 2. The 100-bed facility will offer advanced services, specialising in neurosurgery and cardiology.

Upset student jumps from third floor of school, fractures legs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A Class 10 student reportedly attempted suicide by jumping from the third floor of her school, Al Fahad Education Centre, on 15th Cross of Bapuji Nagar 1st Main around 1.40 pm on Friday.

The student climbed over the fence of the third floor wall, and jumped in front of other students. The incident has reportedly been filmed by a person on a mobile phone. The school staff rushed the 15-year-old student, a resident of Bapujinagar, to Victoria Hospital, and later to Indira Gandhi Institute of Child Health in Jayanagar. It is said she told her classmates before jumping. By the time the teachers could catch her, she climbed the fence and jumped. She has sustained severe injuries to her legs and back.

She was said to be upset after a staff member allegedly scolded her in front of other students.

"She has suffered fractures in both her legs and is being treated at Indira Gandhi Institute of Child Health in Jayanagar. The doctors said she is out of danger. She is a bright student. We don't know the reason behind her action. The allegations against the staff are false and baseless. There are CCTVs in the school, and the recordings will throw light if she was scolded by any teacher. The treatment expenses will be borne by the management," school Vice-Principal Mohammad Fahad told TNIE.

The police said the student was upset over something that happened in the school and attempted suicide during the lunch break. The police are talking to her class teacher and school staff. They are yet to talk to the student and learn the reason behind her act. The Byatarayanapura police are investigating.

CONG BRASS BACKS CM, READY TO FIGHT IN COURTS

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah and his deputy DK Shivakumar met Congress high command leaders, including AICC chief Mallikarjun Kharge and Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi, in New Delhi on Friday.

The leaders chalked out a multi-pronged approach to deal with the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) site allotment case and to protect Siddaramaiah after Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot gave sanction to prosecute him in the case.

Apart from continuing the legal battle, the Congress brass also decided to take the issue to the people's court by launching protests across Karnataka by projecting that Siddaramaiah is being attacked because he is a backward classes leader.

"The Governor's order is legally untenable and politically adverse. We will fight it both in the court of law and in the court of public opinion. The court of public opinion has given us a full mandate. The people of Karnataka are with us. We have full faith in the Constitution, and we believe that the law is on our side. The High Court, and if necessary, the higher courts, will decide appropriately. All our options, including meeting the President of India, are open," AICC general secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala said after the meeting. He indirectly hinted at approaching the Supreme Court.

"The Union Government is drunk with power and is using the governor as a puppet to assault the senior-most backward classes CM (Siddaramaiah) in the country. We stand united in this fight... we stand with our CM, and we will not accept assault on him because he is from a backward class. We apprised Kharge and Rahul Gandhi on this. Congress is committed to continuing with the guarantees...," Surjewala elaborated.

He said Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar briefed Rahul Gandhi on how a systematic and designed assault had been unleashed through the office of the "puppet governor, by BJP and JDS as part of their sinister conspiracy and design to destabilise an elected government".

"Frustrated by a decimating defeat, the Prime Minister, home minister and the entire BJP leadership are now hiding behind a rag doll governor to attack the Congress government. This is not an attempt to dislodge and destabilise the Congress government in Karnataka, but in truth a sinister design to attack the five guarantees doled out by transferring Rs 53,000 crore to four crore Kannadigas," he alleged.

He questioned as to why the governor has not sanctioned the prosecution of BJP-JDS leaders, BS Yediyurappa, HD Kumaraswamy, and former ministers Murugesh Nirani and Shashikala Jolle.

Shivakumar said the party stands united, and will pursue the matter in courts and not be "cowed down". "The rank and file of the party at both the national and state level stand united with Siddaramaiah. We will support him for his continuous efforts to uplift the downtrodden," he added.

Siddaramaiah said the governor's move to grant sanction for his prosecution is illegal, and he has already challenged it in court. "I don't want to reveal which court. The case is coming up on August 29. We believe in the law of the land. The decision taken by the governor is unconstitutional and illegal. We will get justice in the courts," he asserted.

DKS: Guv yielded to BJP pressure, returned 15 bills

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Friday alleged that Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot sent back 15 bills after Congress came to power in the state because of pressure from the BJP.

"If the governor takes decisions based on BJP leaders' recommendations, then why do we need governments in a democracy?" he told reporters here. Shivakumar said, "If there are doubts or confusion over the bills, we are here to clear them."

Asked if attempts are on to bring down the Congress government in the state, Shivakumar said, "We won't be silent spectators. We will foil all such attempts."

On Congress' objection to allotment of land to Jindal in the past and now approving it, Shivakumar said Karnataka needs employment and it will happen only if industries come to the state.

"We have allotted land as per the industrial policy. We have not granted new or additional land. The government has signed a sale deed with Jindal for the land which was to be allotted to the company long ago," he added.

BJP MLC seeks action against Siddaramaiah

BJP MLC DS Arun has accused CM Siddaramaiah of misusing the Consolidated Fund of the state and violating the Constitutional obligation. On Friday, the MLC submitted a petition to the governor requesting him to order a probe into the misuse of funds and to remove Siddaramaiah from the CM's post. Arun alleged that Siddaramaiah indulged in creating false and fabricated documents regarding unspent balances of the ZP/TP fund and submitted them before the legislature. "Several thousand crores of Rupees of unspent balances of ZP/TP fund-II have been misused by Siddaramaiah, the CM and Finance Minister of Karnataka, is violative of Constitutional provisions," he alleged.

Will parade MLAs before Guv if bid made to topple govt: Satish

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @Belagavi

WHILE asking the BJP-JDS leadership to refrain from hatching a conspiracy to unseat Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, a leader of Ahinda (Kannada acronym for minorities, backward classes and Dalits), PWD Minister and KPCC working president Satish Jarkiholi has said the Congress leadership will have to take out a parade of its ministers and MLAs before the Governor if attempts to destabilise the State Government continue.

Satish said the BJP-JDS alliance has been resorting to all possible tactics to tarnish the image of Siddaramaiah for no logical reasons. "It may become imminent to parade the ministers and MLAs before the governor in order to convince the latter," the minister said. Satish said Siddaramaiah was heading the government successfully and trying to meet people's aspirations. Unable to digest the CM's effective performance, the BJP and JDS were trying to oppose him vociferously, the minister added.

Expressing confidence that Siddaramaiah would remain as the CM and Congress government would remain in power for the next four years without any hassles, Satish said the conspiracies hatched by the opposition to unseat Siddaramaiah will not materialise. The BJP leadership has been troubling the Congress-led state governments across the country with the help of governors in the respective states, he said. The Congress governments are not allowed by the opposition to function properly in several states, he said. He further said that JDS leaders HD Deve Gowda and HD Kumaraswamy may have assured Union Home Minister Amit Shah of bringing down the State Government. In wake of such developments, the Congress would have to remain cautious about the opposition's ploy, he said. The CM himself admitted on several occasions that attempts were being made to bring down his government for the past few months, Satish said.He said the BJP leadership had brought down several state governments in recent years and that the Congress leadership should be alert.

2,144-page chargesheet against Prajwal, Revanna

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

The Crime Investigation Department (CID) of the Special Investigation Team (SIT) on Friday filed a 2,144-page chargesheet against Holenarasipura MLA HD Revanna and former Hassan MP Prajwal Revanna in connection with the sexual assault and harassment case registered at the Holenarasipura Town police station in Hassan.

The investigation officer of the case submitted the chargesheet to the 42nd Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate (ACMM) court, which is the Special Court to try cases against sitting and former MPs/MLAs.

The SIT has included the statement of about 150 witnesses in the case, including victims' and witnesses statements that were recorded before the magistrate under Section 164 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (CrPC).

The SIT, which had subjected the accused to medical tests and had gathered biological, physical, scientific, mobile phone, digital and other circumstantial evidence during the course of investigation, has also furnished the reports of medical, forensic and cyber forensic tests along with the chargesheet.

The first case was filed on April 28 at Holenarsipura Town police station where Prajwal and his father Revanna were accused of sexual harassment of a 47-year-old former maid. In total, four cases are registered against Prajwal in Hassan and Bengaluru. The SIT had earlier submitted chargesheet against Revanna and others in connection with the kidnap case, involving one of the sexual abuse victims, to the court.

The cases of alleged sexual abuse came to light after pendrives containing explicit videos allegedly involving Prajwal were reportedly circulated in Hassan, ahead of Lok Sabha polls on April 26.

No wrongdoing in KIADB site allotment: Patil

Bengaluru:: Industries Minister MB Patil refuted allegations about irregularities in allotting Civic Amenity (CA) sites by the Karnataka Industrial Area Development Board (KIADB). "We have not violated any rule in allotting CA sites. It was done transparently by following all procedures. A petition was given to the Governor by an activist a few weeks ago, making these allegations. The same application has been given again," the minister said. Patil said they had invited applications for 193 sites on 377.69 acres, but only 43 sites were allotted and the remaining sites are yet to be allotted. In cases where only one application is received for a particular site, they are again calling for applications to ensure that eligible applicants get an opportunity, he said. For the first time, they have also introduced 24.10 per cent reservation for SC/ST in allotment of CA sites. Patil said rates of CA sites were not reduced during his tenure.

MY TAKE

To remain in debt of 'gods' called Doctors

NIRAD MUDUR
Deputy Resident Editor, Karnataka
niradgmudur@newindianexpress.com

"WHEREVER the art of medicine is loved, there is also a love of humanity," said Hippocrates (450-380 BC), the Greek physician and philosopher who is known as the father of modern medicine. Over three centuries later, Marcus Tullius Cicero (106-43 BC), Roman poet, philosopher, rhetorician and humorist, said, "In nothing do men (and women) more nearly approach the gods than in giving health to men (and women)."

Over ages, doctors, 'vaidyas' and 'hakeems' have commanded the respect and love of people for their life-saving abilities and consultations. But things have changed for the worse now. A doctor's service is being viewed more in commercial terms, that what is expected must be delivered – an extremely difficult expectation to meet in the medical profession, considering that doctors and the medical staff are commonly faced with situations wherein patients are expected to be brought back from the jaws of death. And if they fail, they are blamed – even assaulted – for negligence or lack of diligence.

It has been common for people to view doctors as 'gods'. But the fact is that they are just as human as the patients they are treating, or whose lives they are trying to save. The 'gods' have to prepare for it, and it takes years and a lot of money. The MBBS (Undergraduate Medical Degree) course typically takes five-and-a-half years, including the mandatory 1-year of internship, preparing students for the responsibilities of the medical profession. Post MBBS specialisation like Doctor of Medicine (MD) or Master of Surgery (MS) typically take three years to complete, but can take longer depending on the student's dedication and calibre. Super-specialisation courses can take another two years.

Nursing courses can take between 12 weeks and four years to complete, depending on whether it is the Certified Nursing Assistant (CNA) training (12–18 weeks) or Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSc Nursing) (a four-year undergraduate programme), combining theory and practice in healthcare settings, aiming at developing knowledge, experience and critical thinking skills.

Only on completing the gruelling years do doctors and nurses 'qualify' to be considered 'gods' by the 'mortals'. And yet, if they fail, they face the sticks and brickbats, while bouquets are becoming rare these days.

Not surprising, the Indian Medical Association (IMA) reported that 75% of the doctors face physical or verbal abuse in hospitals, and up to 43% live in fear of being targeted by violence, causing immense stress while on duty, clocking a whopping 120 hours per week (Was Infosys co-founder NR Narayana Murthy inspired by them while prescribing 70-hour-weeks to IT professionals?).

The gory rape-and-murder of a young lady doctor in R.G. Kar Medical College in Kolkata a few days ago has brought the issue of ensuring safety of medical professionals to the fore. Although the motive behind that crime is different from those behind the general cases of assault and abuse on doctors, it has nevertheless turned into a nationwide call – and a shrill one – to put in place a formidable system to ensure safety of medical professionals.

The Karnataka government has set up a task force comprising top health officials and representatives from hospitals and professional bodies to firm up safety measures for medical professionals to deter violence against them.

On August 20, Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao met with representatives of the Karnataka chapter of IMA, Private Hospitals and Nursing Homes Association (PHANA), hospitals and medical colleges and 12 associations of medical specialists. The suggestions from the representatives included educating the public about laws that protect medical professionals and displaying relevant penal provisions of state legislation at the health centres; installing CCTV cameras in hospitals, deploying additional security personnel, and having regular police patrols; wristbands with panic buttons to be provided to the hospital staff; conducting regular safety inspections with the police in the hospitals; fast-tracking pending cases involving assaults on doctors; and offering training programmes for women staff on handling volatile situations. The suggestions are being assessed by the task force, which is expected to submit a report before September 20.

The recent legislature session also passed the Karnataka Medical Registration and Certain Other Law (Amendment) Bill, 2024, and the Governor has accorded assent to it. It states that any intentional insult to healthcare service personnel would be punished with imprisonment for a period of not less than three years, which may extend up to seven years. It also includes fines ranging from Rs 25,000 to Rs 2 lakh.

However, while the state is in the process of strengthening safety measures for the health professionals, the bigger challenge will be to change the public mindset. Awareness has to be spread among the public while raising empathy towards doctors and nurses, by understanding and accepting that they are not 'gods', but humans trained in a profession of saving lives. Even among the doctors, empathy needs to prevail while serving the patients. Empathy and understanding need to be mutual among doctors and patients and their families. Only then perhaps the stoic philosopher and statesman of ancient Rome, Lucius Annaeus Seneca's words would ring true again: that people pay doctors for their troubles and services, but for their kindness, they will remain in their debts.

Min blasts dist officials for not clearing pending cases in AC courts

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

REVENUE Minister Krishna Byregowda on Friday took officials to task for not resolving pending dispute cases in subdivisional officers' courts. "Officials don't find elections to be a hindrance when making money, but for public service, they use them as an excuse," the minister told assistant commissioners, adding that they use the excuse of election duty to avoid clearing pending dispute cases in courts.

"People visit AC courts repeatedly. We have been conducting meetings across the state for the past year, setting targets for all officials to resolve such cases. But since March, the pace has slowed again," he said.

Byregowda held a video-conference with selected ACs and zonal commissioners from Mandya, Chikkaballapur, Chikkamagaluru, Tumakuru, Koppal, Mysuru, Mangaluru and Belagavi districts. The minister told them that cases were being disposed of quickly till March, but has stalled since then. When asked, they say it is because of election duty, he added, lashing out at officials.

According to a release from the Revenue Department, AC courts across the state have 36,430 cases pending. Of these, the Bengaluru North zone has the highest number of 5,419 cases, followed by the Bengaluru South zone with 4,351 cases. "Also, officials in the two zones have registered over 65% of cases that fall outside their jurisdictions. Cases are being resolved at a snail's pace," Byregowda said.

Pointing his ire at Bengaluru North division officer Pramod Patil and Bengaluru South division officer Rajanikant Chauhan, he asked them, "You have registered cases outside your jurisdictions illegally. How much money did you take to do this?" He also warned them, "If we speak politely, it doesn't get through to you. It seems we need to respond in your language."

Byregowda directed Principal Secretary Rajendra Kumar Kataria to issue notices and take strict action against officials not resolving pending cases in AC courts.

FAKE NCC CAMP CASE: PRIME ACCUSED DIES BY SUICIDE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Krishnagiri

A Sivaraman (30), the prime suspect in the sexual assault of a schoolgirl at a fake NCC camp at Bargur in Krishnagiri district, who had allegedly consumed poison before his arrest in the case, died without responding to treatment at the Government Mohan Kumaramangalam Medical College Hospital in Salem early on Friday. Incidentally, Sivaraman's father Ashok Kumar, too, died on Thursday after he fell off a two-wheeler due to a suspected heart attack.

After opposition parties, AIADMK and BJP, raised suspicion over the deaths on Friday and wondered if any attempt was being made to shield the real culprits involved in the sexual assault case, the Krishnagiri district police issued a warning against those spreading false information and said a judicial inquiry is currently under way.

A statement issued by the Krishnagiri district police late on Friday said, "A confession statement was obtained from Sivaraman at Krishnagiri Government Hospital on August 13. He had confessed that he had taken rat poison two days before his arrest. The doctors had mentioned that in the 'medical history sheet'. Sivaraman was shifted to Salem GH for further treatment on August 21, but he died at 5.05 am on Friday. Earlier, he had consumed rat poison on July 9 due to a family dispute and received treatment for it." "A judicial inquiry is currently under way into Sivaraman's death. Strict action will be taken against those who spread false information. The police will take appropriate action if wrong information is shared regarding the death of his father Asho Kumar too," the statement said.

AIADMK, BJP suspect foul play in the death of accused

AIADMK general secretary Edappadi K Palaniswami and BJP state president K Annamalai on Friday raised suspicions over the deaths of the prime suspect, and his father Ashokumar. NTK leader Seeman claimed Sivaraman, who was a former NTK functionary, committed suicide out of guilt. He also said it was indeed NTK functionaries who had handed over Sivaraman to the police. Palaniswami termed both the deaths "suspicious" and said the public was wondering if the duo had been killed, fearing the suspect might reveal names of important people in the sexual assault case. "Sivaraman could have answered several vital questions: for how many years such fake NCC camps have been held.

K'TAKA SUBMITS FRESH PLEA FOR ECO TERMS FOR MEKEDATU

CWDT final order does not bar Karnataka from building projects in Cauvery basin

SV KRISHNA CHAITANYA
@Chennai

THE Karnataka government submitted a fresh application seeking Terms of Reference (ToR) for the Mekedatu dam from the Union environment ministry.

As per official documents available with TNIE, Chief Engineer of Cauvery Neeravari Nigam Niyamita (Irrigation South Zone), Mysuru, submitted the application on May 30 to member-secretary of River Valley and Hydroelectric Projects in the ministry along with Form-1, draft pre-feasibility report (DPR), draft ToRs and necessary drawings/maps.

In response, the ministry asked for essential details on July 2 on whether DPR was approved by the Cauvery Water Management Authority (CWMA), details of court cases and clearance in terms of interstate issues. The Karnataka government replied to it on July 9.

It was submitted that CWMA returned the Mekedatu DPR to the Central Water Commission for examination of various technical and economic aspects of the project. Regarding clearance of interstate issues, Karnataka officials said the protocol for according approval for ToR by the Union environment ministry does not seek clearance of inter-state issues as a prerequisite.

"The question would be addressed by the specific Inter State Matters Directorate within the Central Water Commission. The final order of the Cauvery Water Disputes Tribunal (CWDT), as modified by the Supreme Court, has not barred Karnataka from proceeding with any project in the Cauvery basin," the chief engineer said in his reply.

The last time the Karnataka government sought ToR for the Mekedatu reservoir was in 2019 and the expert appraisal committee of the ministry rejected the application, saying an amicable solution must be arrived at with the Tamil Nadu government, which opposed the project. Also, there were questions over the analysis of alternative sites.

Last year, Karnataka Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar raised the pitch for the Mekedatu reservoir as the Bengaluru water crisis was worsening, and TN Chief Minister MK Stalin reiterated that he wouldn't allow the project.

Mekedatu Balancing Reservoir and Drinking Water Project is a multipurpose project aimed at providing drinking water to Bangalore Metropolitan Region and surroundings, and also generate 400MW of hydro-electric power. It aims to utilise the natural bed slope of the river from Shivanasamudra to the state border.

Karnataka claims that successful implementation of the project will enable the regulation of flow and ensure that the downstream commitment of allowing 177.25 tmcft, which includes 10tmcft towards environmental flow to Tamil Nadu, is met along with drinking water facilities to areas deprived of drinking water in Karnataka.

K'taka's decision to give college land to Kurubas condemned

RAMAKRISHNA BADSESHI
@Kalaburagi

THE decision of the Karnataka Cabinet to allot 3 acre and 7 gunta of land belonging to the Government College of Kalaburagi, has attracted the ire of academicians and educational organizations alike.

Retired history professor Shambhuling Vani said that the Government College owned 59 acres of land for the last 4 decades. However, claiming that a small temple of Beerappa has been in existence in the said location of the Government College from nearly a century the Kurubara Sangha community, encroached a part of the land.

The college authorities contacted the archeological department to conduct a survey based on the claim. The survey revealed that the temple is about 25 years old, after which, the Sangha requested the government to give 3 acres and 7 guntas of land to the community. A politician has encroached some portion of the land, and the state has given some portion of the land, to the Kannada and culture department as well as for Regional Centre of VTU. The Government College (which has become an autonomous college now) which previously owned over 59 acres of land, now has about 30 acres of land left.

"It is a bad practice to allot the land belonging to an educational institution to an organization of a particular caste, as other castes will also ask for land from government institutions," added Shambhuling Vani.

Senior academician Basavaraj Kumnoor who is the retired Principal of Dr Ambedkar College also echoed the same opinion. As the Government College has become autonomous, it needs different departments and land for research activities. The government could have used the excess land to construct play ground for the students. Cabinet decision to allot of the land to a particular caste, will set a bad president and will adversely effect the educational atmosphere, Kumnoor felt.

Founder President of Kalyana Karnataka Horatagala Sanghatane Lakshman Dasti also described the Cabinet decision as bad. "The decision will boomerang and bring bad name to Siddaramaiah government. The government could instead give the land from somewhere else to Kurubara Sangha," he opined.

The cabinet, on August 22, had agreed to sanction 3 acres and 7 guntas of land belonging to Government College, Kalaburagi, to Karnataka Pradesh Kurubara Sangha.

According to officials, the fire broke out around 12.30 am on the first floor in the B Block of pharma unit on Friday.

The incident comes close on the heels of the explosion at Escientia Advanced Sciences Private Limited in Atchutapuram SEZ on Wednesday, which claimed 17 lives and left 36 people injured.

Officials said the fire erupted during the process of mixing chemicals. The static electricity caused the fire. Following the incident, the injured were rushed to a hospital immediately.

The injured workers have been identified as K Suryanarayana (36) from Vizianagaram, and Oybonkorha (22), Lalsingh Purthy (24) and Roya Angiria (22) from Jharkhand. All the four are undergoing treatment at Indus Hospital.

KAVITHA, wife of 52-year-old P Chandrashekaran, the accounts superintendent of Karnataka Maharshi Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation Ltd who ended his life in May this year, has said that she will approach Karnataka High Court seeking jusitce.

"In the chargesheet, it was mentioned that my husband was accused and received money. We didn't get any justice. He succumbed to pressure. I will go to the High Court. I have already consulted a lawyer," she said.

Speaking to reporters after the chargesheet was filed by the Special Investigation Team (SIT) on Thursday, she alleged that the SIT failed to find the truth behind her husband's suicide. I" demand a CBI probe into the incident," she added. Replying to a query on whether her husband was taken to Goa and pressurised over the issue, Kavitha said: "I am not aware of any such incident. He never spoke about work at home."

"For the last two months, we are suffering a lot and we don't believe that my husband was involved in any such matter. I believe that my husband was clean and he wasn't involved in corruption. All allegations against my husband were false," she said.

Kavitha dared the state government to handover the case to CBI. The officials were targeted and the investigation itself was diverted, she said.

"We are not ready to accept corruption allegations against my late husband. We will approach the High Court, and seek punishment for those who were part of the scam," said Kavitha.

₹1.1K cr to be released for panchayat development, says Naidu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Vijayawada

STATING that the development of villages will lead to the development of the country, Chief Minister N Chandrababu Naidu on Friday announced that the Centre will soon release more than ₹1,000 crore for Panchayats to expedite development works.

Participating in a Grama Sabha at Vanapalli village of Kothapeta Assembly constituency in Dr BR Ambedkar Konaseema district, Naidu said, "We had already released ₹998 crore for Panchayats, which was diverted by the previous government. We will soon release ₹1,100 crore for taking up development works in Panchayats."

The State government held 13,326 Grama Sabhas across the State in a single day on Friday. Ministers, MLAs and other elected representatives and officials participated in the village to identify and approve works.

Terming the event historic, Naidu congratulated Deputy Chief Minister and Panchayat Raj Minister Pawan Kalyan for proposing to hold the Gram Sabhas. Accusing the previous government of treating Sarpanches as ceremonial idols, Naidu said he firmly believes that a Sarpanch is equally important for the development of a village as an MLA is for an Assembly segment.

Naidu assured people that working days under National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme will be increased to 21.5 crore from 15 crore.

Lashing out at the previous government for neglecting and debilitating Panchayats in the State, the CM alleged that not even a single road was laid in any village across the State.

Naidu said under Article 243A, a Grama Sabha's consent is required for any kind of functioning of a Sarpanch and asked whether the previous government had conducted even a single village meeting in any part of the State in five years.

CONTINUED VIGILANCE ON FOOD PRICES MUST TO TAME HEADLINE INFLATION

THE old debate of core versus headline inflation resurfaced when the Economic Survey 2023-24 asked the RBI to consider an inflation target excluding food, whose prices are influenced more by supply than demand. But RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das recently dismissed such a possibility. The minutes of the recent monetary policy review meeting released Thursday confirm all members of the rate-setting panel are on the same page. Since July 2023, food inflation has remained significantly higher than other two components of headline inflation, averaging 8 percent and contributing 75 percent to the headline number during April-June 2024. Food price rise has fallen from its peak of 10.6 percent in July 2023, but continues to be above 7-8 percent. If you exclude this, the core inflation rate would collapse to a new low of 3.1 percent in the current series. It means a progressive decline in food inflation is essential to achieve the 4 percent headline inflation target.

Persistent food price shocks cannot be ignored given its high share in the household consumption basket. It also has a significant weight of over 46 percent for computing retail inflation; so one cannot ignore its movements while evaluating the headline number. The risk of spillovers to non-food components also complicates the task of taming inflation. As committee member Rajiv Ranjan noted, any adjustment of the goalpost, apart from undermining central banks' hard-earned credibility, may invite the wrath of markets and wipe out the work done so far.

That said, the wedge between headline and food inflation continues to widen, negating the gains made through the decline in core inflation. Importantly, higher food prices are spilling over to households' inflation expectation and consumer confidence—which is why the RBI insists on maintaining the status quo. As Deputy Governor Michael Patra observed, food price shocks may originate outside the realm of monetary policy and initially manifest themselves in supply mismatches, but when they affect components of inflation, they can propagate through second-order effects and get generalised—to which monetary policy cannot be insensitive. Persistently rising prices are always and everywhere a reflection of too much demand chasing too little supply, even if it is a supply shortfall that starts the price spiral. As outgoing external committee member Ashima Goyal reasoned, continued vigilance is the price of success.

INNOVATION KEY TO SAFETY IN DISASTER-PRONE KERALA

EVERY disaster contains valuable lessons. The recent Wayanad landslide has pointers for the future that Kerala, as also the country, cannot afford to ignore. While the disaster underscored the effects of climate change, it also served as a dire warning to accept new realities—and to adapt or perish. A study by climate scientists pegged global warming, which has increased the intensity of monsoon rainfall in the region by 10 percent, as a trigger for the landslide. Warmer atmosphere can hold more moisture, making downpours heavier. While that explains the spells of unusually heavy rain Kerala is witnessing, other factors that come into play in a landslide are steepness of the slope, permeability of the soil, and human activities like land use change, deforestation, mining and construction. Sudden heavy downpours and human activities are associated with Kerala's frequent floods, too. Add to this the fact that almost 15 percent of Kerala is landslide-prone and an equal area is flood-prone, the seriousness becomes apparent.

So climate change and the region's fragility should be kept in mind while taking up developmental activities in Kerala. Fast urbanisation and high population density make the task difficult. Dealing with it does not mean stopping developmental activities. People need facilities and the state needs to progress in tune with the times and its reputation. Challenges and disasters should prompt innovations that make lives safer while ensuring progress. In this, Kerala can learn a lesson or two from Aizawl. After a landslide that killed 17 in 2013, the Mizoram city prepared comprehensive landslide hazard maps and enforced strict slope modification rules, helping curb later damages.

While Kerala must bring in regulations for slope modification and promote disaster-resilient construction, it must also put in place a better disaster-response system. Effective data-driven monitoring and early warning systems should be set up so that accurate and actionable alerts are available timely. The government can bring together its agencies, academic institutions, independent climate researchers and ordinary people to develop a strategy for hazard identification, monitoring, response and rescue. Vulnerable communities should be given access to data on risks, which will help them to be proactive and protect themselves. Risks are often unpredictable, but Kerala must show the resolve to change course and keep itself safe.

QUICK TAKE

RIGHT TO SPEEDY INTERNET

IN an ironic inversion, Pakistan has blamed the country's internet users for markedly slower connection speeds. While common users blame the slowdown on a new cybersecurity regime, business users are crying foul over a 40 percent fall in data speed. The Pakistani government, which blocked social media platforms and throttled speeds after Imran Khan's arrest sparked riots last year, has pointed an accusing finger at users' preference for virtual private networks to skirt state surveillance. As curbs in Manipur and Kashmir show, India is no saint when it comes to web access. Apart from the rights such moves trample on, governments must consider the business losses they cause.

IPL is a lab for experimenting with fair price discovery systems. So Ravichandran Ashwin's recent warning against reinstating the right to match rule should be taken seriously

HOW ECONOMICS CAN MAKE IPL AUCTIONS FAIRER

S CHANDRASEKHAR

SHIVANGI CHANDEL
Associate Professor, O P Jindal Global University

BEFORE we plot the high-stakes connection between the Indian Premier League and market logic, let's look at an observation from Peter Cramton, an economist who has done extensive work on auction design. He wrote in the European Economic Review in 1998: "With neither theory nor experiments providing definitive results, it is easy to conclude that which auction format is best is an empirical matter. How one would go about answering this empirical question is difficult at best, since rarely do we see multiple formats being used in easily comparable settings."

This is where the IPL and Ravichandran Ashwin come in. The IPL is a laboratory for experimenting with auction design—a rare luxury that India's governments, public sector units or bankruptcy courts do not have. And the spinner, who has 310 wickets in 324 T20 matches, recently spoke out loudly against the possible reinstatement of the right to match (RTM) card at the next IPL auction. He believes the RTM system undervalues the player.

Before we weigh the logic behind Ashwin's claim, let's define the key terms. At the IPL, players are traded in an ascending price auction—the teams place bids in increments. The winner is the team willing to pay the most, with no one else willing to outbid it.

In economic literature, RTM is also known as the right of first refusal. Introduced at the 2018 IPL mega auction, the rule allows teams to keep up to five players from the previous season by using the player retention rule before the auction or RTM at the auction. If they match the highest price bid at the auction, the RTM allows a team reacquire a player who they did not retain before the auction. A maximum of three retentions or three RTMs were permitted, subject to the overall limit of five.

SOURAV ROY

Why teams want RTM

Recent reports indicate that teams want to bring back RTM in the 2025 auction. Rebuilding an entire team defies logic. So teams would like to retain as many core players as possible. At the least, they would prefer a mix of retention and RTM.

Some preferential treatment is observed in other sports leagues, too. An example would be to let the team that performed the worst in the previous season pick the first player from the available pool in the ensuing season. This allows everyone to build a competitive team. But this idea cannot be extended to RTM.

At the IPL auction, the team interested in exercising RTM puts in a bid at the base price of the player and then watches the bidding unfold between other teams. They would behave differently if they had to participate actively in the auction for a player who was not part of their team. In the latter case, the team reveals the maximum price it would pay for a player; under RTM, the true valuation of the player as ascertained by the team exercising the RTM is not necessarily revealed.

Consider the case of Faf du Plessis in 2018. He had played for Chennai Super Kings, who matched the highest bid of ₹1.6 crore and retained him. In 2022, he was bought by Royal Challengers Bangalore for ₹7 crore. The IPL 2022 mega auction did not have RTM. It was probably a combination of recent form, the desire for RCB to have him as their captain and the absence of RTM that contributed to his higher valuation.

A mathematical model formalising this line of thinking will throw up the downside of RTM for players. RTM can discourage bidders from bidding actively. A team will expect that winning against the RTM holder is more expensive. It brings in a big element of uncertainty while building the ideal team. Also, there is the notion of a team overpaying—beating the RTM holder essentially means that the right holder does not value the player as much as the winner does. Empirical evidence from other contexts suggest that RTM can create a situation where the right holder pays less for a player than what they would have if they had participated in open bidding for the player.

RTM with additional features

The first option is to have a rule requiring the team exercising RTM to top the highest bid at the auction by the incremental bid in that slab. For example, if the highest bid for a player is ₹10 crore, then the team exercising RTM will have to pay a certain percentage over this amount. Depending on the industry and nature of contract, top-ups over the winning bid is usually in the region of 5-25 percent.

The second option is to fix the maximum number of retentions. In earlier auctions, the rules permitted payment of ₹16, 12 , 8 and 6 crore to the first, second, third and fourth choice players, respectively. Suppose for arguments sake, now eight players can be retained and IPL rules do not specify a retention price slab but allow the team to negotiate with the players. Thus each team would have the right of first offer (RoFO) to the player—which the player can accept or decline. The offer price is recorded by the IPL authorities but not disclosed if the player declines. If the player accepts, he is retained; else, he goes to the auction.

Here, the player takes the risk of being unsold or sold at a lower price. If the highest bid received by the player is lower than the amount offered by his original team, then the original team has the option to match this price and retain him. Under this scenario, the player is aware of the principle of 'no risk, no gain'.

All these transactions have to respect the overarching guideline for all teams—to not exceed the total budget and to fulfill the minimum and maximum number of players any team needs to have on its roster.

If there was no ambiguity over these rules, a staggering 2,500-odd research articles would not have been written on RoFR since 2020. That's why Ashwin's concern cannot be dismissed. And why those designing government auctions should stay tuned to the IPL debate.

CLOUDBURST PROTESTS CALL FOR NEW CROWD COMPUTING

MADHAVAN NARAYANAN
Senior journalist

WHERE did all the crowds that thronged Dhaka come from at a short notice as revolutionary fervour swept Bangladesh and ousted its elected prime minister? Where did the mob that vandalised Kolkata's R G Kar Hospital after the horrible rape and murder of a woman doctor emerge from? Indeed, how did protests erupt across India in support of the rape victim and against a similar incident in Maharashtra?

We have witnessed many protests in India and elsewhere. But in recent years, it can be said that social media plays an important role in the eruption and scaling of mass protests with a speed that can be stupefying for administrators. In the old normal, crowds gathered at a slower pace, often from nearby areas. In the new normal scheme of things, the so-called armchair warriors can turn active street protesters when and where required.

This monsoon, the subcontinent has seen both crowd bursts and cloudbursts. I would like to think of the latter as a metaphor for the former. Scientifically speaking, cloudbursts occur after warm air currents impede the normal flow of raindrops, leading to an accumulation of water. In a political sense, pent-up anger or simmering protests are like warm currents that reach a flashpoint when patient, peaceful people are ready to storm the streets—as we witnessed in Dhaka, Kolkata and Thane.

I would include in this category the recent riots in the UK, where far-right mobs ran amok, attacking immigrants or non-whites following a baseless rumour that the perpetrator of a knife attack that killed three young girls was a Muslim immigrant. Like water held back by warm air, pent-up feelings fanned by propaganda and fears can cause crowd bursts.

Cloud experts say climate change and greenhouse gas emissions have altered nature. Similarly, the internet and messenger apps have changed the nature of crowd behaviour.

The 2011 riots in London were linked to incendiary BlackBerry Messenger texts that escaped the attention of authorities. As the media observed, that eruption was a far cry from the Tottenham riots in 1985, when a megaphone-wielding man incited a smaller crowd. Technology has made many things go easily viral, and easily scalable.

Protests can and do resemble flash mobs that used to be in fashion over a decade ago. It's a group of people that assembles quickly in a public place like a railway station to stage acts of entertainment, satire or artistic expression. The term is not officially used for protests. But the underlying technology is much the same. The internet enables quick assembly of people, whether as protest groups or artiste troupes.

Crowd computing now needs some sophisticated cloud computing. One does not mix metaphors to say that cloud-based software can help law enforcers if only they dig deeper to find patterns before they descend like furious crowdbursts. WhatsApp and other encrypted messengers like Telegram can spread rumours, useful information, hate calls and solidarity messages alike. Authorities must go that extra mile to keep track of social trouble spots.

AFP

> A combination of rumours amplified on social media, propaganda shared on encrypted messengers and police high-handedness can combine to form situations that only need a trigger to cause a flood of people on the streets. Authorities need to revise crowd control methods at a time technologies are more democratic

Both good and bad crowds can emerge out of nowhere. Social media played a big role in the Arab Spring in Egypt and North Africa between 2010 and 2012. One research paper described the Janatha Aragalaya (People's Struggle) in Sri Lanka in 2022 as an "informed revolution" in which the public was educated about important political and legal facts. After the severe earthquake at Bhuj in 2001, Gujaratis from across the planet raised relief material using early Internet sites.

I recall an afternoon in Hyderabad two decades ago, when the founder of an IT company explained to me how his company had helped the UK's Scotland Yard to identify probable crime spots by processing geographical information system data from potential areas of trouble. Data science and cloud computing can make it easier. Police across the world can and do use digital heatmaps and mathematical models to tackle riots and mob violence, but this needs to be stepped up and become more refined. The recent street protests show there is a long way to go—not to speak of the direction in which things must go.

Writing after the recent Bangladesh protests, a Colombo-based correspondent looked back at the ouster of Sri Lankan President Gotabaya Rajapaksa. She said a lot of hard work was necessary for journalists to get a clear picture as the protests had "no coherent narrative or clear author". So she underlined the importance of "listening" at multiple levels to find clarity. That applies just as much to law enforcers.

What is increasingly apparent is that the combination of social media, rumours, encrypted messengers, propaganda and police high-handedness can combine to form cloudburst-like situations that only need a trigger event to cause a flood of people on the streets. Authorities need to reverse-swing the traditional definition of crowd control, where a teargas shell or police firing could disperse relatively smaller crowds.

Listening to the voices of fears and injustice can provide democratic intelligence that was seemingly lacking in Bangladesh, Sri Lanka, Britain and West Bengal. Having an ear to the ground has a whole new meaning when people can assemble like nimbus clouds and rain on imperious rulers. You can't sleep in peace with authoritarian fantasies when the technology is democratic.

MEA raises Sikh holy book seizure with Qatari govt

Swaroops taken away from groups who ran gurdwaras sans approval

YESHI SELI & HARPREET BAJWA
@ New Delhi/Chandigarh

AFTER Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) MP from Bathinda Harsimrat Kaur Badal raised concerns with the External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar on how two Sikh holy books were seized by the Qatari authorities, the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) has said it has taken up the matter.

"We have appealed to Dr Jaishankar to get two 'swaroops' of Sri Guru Granth Sahib released from police custody in Qatar. The Sikh Sangat is in shock as we regard them as living guru. We also urge him to ask the Qatar authorities to establish a Gurudwara in Qatar," said Badal.

The MEA has taken it up with the Qatari authorities to release the books and also kept the Sikh community in Doha abreast of developments.

"It is important to note that two Swaroops of Guru Granth Sahib were taken by Qatar authorities from two individuals/groups, who were charged with running the religious establishment without approval of the Qatari government. Our Embassy has rendered all assistance with the ambit of local laws and regulations," said MEA.

One of the Swaroops of the holy book was returned by Qatar and it assured that the other swaroop was also kept with respect. "We continue to follow up the matter with Qatar authorities with high priority and hope for an early resolution," MEA has stated.

The Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee (SGPC) on Friday wrote on X, "We thank the MEA and Dr S Jaishankar for their prompt efforts in bringing back one holy Saroop of Guru Granth Sahib from the confiscation of the Qatari authorities and look forward for the return of another Saroop at the earliest with its transportation to the nearby Gurdwara Sahib with due respect."

The SGPC on Thursday took strong notice of the confiscation of two holy scriptures by the local police in Doha, Qatar and requested the External Affairs Minister and the Indian ambassador to Qatar to immediately intervene in the matter.

SGPC president Harjinder Singh Dhami said the matter was recently brought to the attention of the Jathedar Akal Takht Sahib by UK-based Sikh organisation Bhai Kanhaiya Humanitarian Aid, who directed SGPC to pursue the matter.

India, US sign reciprocal defence pact

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

INDIA and the United States signed two significant defence agreements during Indian Defence Minister Rajnath Singh's four-day visit to the US. The agreements include the Security of Supply Arrangement (SOSA) and a Memorandum of Agreement about the assignment of liaison officers.

Rajnath also held a bilateral meeting on Friday with his US counterpart Secretary of Defense Lloyd Austin in Pentagon, Washington DC.

Under SOSA, a bilateral and non-binding agreement, the two sides have committed to providing reciprocal priority support for goods and services that promote national defence. This arrangement is designed to facilitate the acquisition of necessary industrial resources and resolve unanticipated supply chain disruptions to meet national security needs.

The agreement was signed by Samir Kumar Sinha, additional secretary and director general (acquisitions), from the Indian side, and Vic Ramdass, principal deputy assistant secretary of defense for industrial base policy, on behalf of the US.

"This security of supply arrangement represents a pivotal moment in the US-India major defense partner relationship and will be a key factor in strengthening the Defence Technology and Trade Initiative (DTTI)," said Ramdass, anticipating that the next DTTI meeting will happen this fall.

India now joins a list of 18 SOSA partners, which include Australia, Canada, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, Israel, Italy, Japan, Latvia, Lithuania, Netherlands, Norway, Republic of Korea, Singapore, Spain, Sweden, and the United Kingdom.

Additionally, the Memorandum of Agreement on the assignment of liaison officers was signed by Vishwesh Negi, joint secretary international cooperation at the Ministry of Defence, and Dr Ely Ratner, assistant secretary of state for defense for Indo-Pacific security affairs. This agreement is expected to enhance joint service cooperation and facilitate information sharing between the two nations' military organisations.

Rajnath Singh, Lloyd Austin hold bilateral talks

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh on Friday held a bilateral meeting with the US Secretary of Defense Lloyd Austin.

"They held wide-ranging discussions on bilateral defence cooperation, industrial collaboration, regional security and other international issues," the Ministry of Defence said in a statement.

During the meeting, Singh highlighted the various co-development and co-production opportunities in India in the areas identified in the India-US Defence Industrial Cooperation Roadmap, which was adopted last year.

Both the ministers expressed happiness on the conclusion of the SOSA between the two countries. They also welcomed the signing of the Memorandum of Agreement.

The ministers appreciated the progress made in operationalising the Indo-Pacific Maritime Domain Awareness, a Quad initiative and lauded the ongoing efforts by India to enhance the maritime domain awareness for the partners in the Indian Ocean Region. They welcomed the ongoing Indian participation in the Combined Maritime Forces (CMF) and noted that India shall deploy Indian Navy personnel in CMF's Combined Task Force 150 headquarters in 2025.

They also commended efforts of the India-US Defence Acceleration Ecosystem for establishing the defence innovation bridge between the two nations.

The meeting at the Pentagon was preceded by a solemn wreath laying ceremony by Singh at the Arlington National Cemetery. The defence minister and US Secretary of Defense looked forward to meeting again at the next India-US 2+2 Ministerial Dialogue.

Cong holds CEC meet to discuss candidates for J&K polls; 9 names in first list

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

A day after the Congress and the National Conference (NC) sealed a pre-poll alliance for the assembly elections in Jammu and Kashmir, the Central Election Committee (CEC) of Congress convened a meeting on Friday to decide the candidates for the first phase of the polls.

The meeting was attended by Congress chief Mallikarjun Kharge and Leader of Opposition Rahul Gandhi.

Assembly polls in Jammu and Kashmir will be held in three phases — September 18, September 25 and October 1.

According to sources, the Congress will decide on the candidates for nine seats in the first phase of the elections and the rest will be decided later.

Meanwhile, National Conference vice-president Omar Abdullah on Friday said seat-sharing arrangement with the Congress has been finalised for a majority of assembly seats in Jammu and Kashmir, and that parleys were underway to reach consensus over the remaining constituencies.

He said discussions over the rest of the seats were going on and the allies will soon finalise the seat-sharing arrangement.

Rahul Gandhi, Mallikarjun Kharge & KC Venugopal at the CEC meet | SHEKHAR YADAV

"On few seats, we are adamant and on some others, the local leaders of the Congress are adamant. There will be meetings today as well and we will try to sort out the rest of the seats so as to announce our candidates," he added.

The former chief minister of the erstwhile state of J&K, however, refused to share further details.

Asked when the party would announce its candidates for the rest of the seats going to polls in the first phase, Omar said there is no hurry. "Which party has announced its candidates so far? A party has cleverly named people as constituency in-charges. Our constituency in-charges have been working for the last 10 years. So why are you after our lists? Ask them. Our list will have to be out in any case by August 27," he said, apparently referring to the PDP.

Cong greedy for power, playing with country's security, says Shah

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

UNION Home Minister and BJP's principal strategist Amit Shah on Friday accused the Congress of repeatedly "risking the country's unity and security" in its greed for power by forging an alliance with the National Conference for the J&K assembly polls.

The 90-member assembly of the Union Territory is going to the polls in three phases on September 18 and 25 and October 1. The counting of votes is scheduled for October 4.

"The Congress, which has repeatedly risked the nation's unity and security to satiate its greed for power, has again exposed its ulterior motives by allying with the Abdullah family's National Conference," Shah alleged while reacting to the poll alliance between the two parties.

Raising 10 questions on the alliance, Shah asked Congress whether it wanted to support the National Conference's promise of a separate flag for Jammu and Kashmir.

"Do Rahul Gandhi and the Congress support the JKNC's decision to restore Article 370 and 35-A, and thereby push J&K back into unrest and terrorism? Does the Congress support promoting separatism again by engaging in dialogue with Pakistan instead of Kashmir's youth? Does the Congress support reinstating relatives of those involved in terrorism and stone-pelting into government jobs?" Shah asked.

He alleged that the alliance has exposed the Congress' anti-reservation stance. "Does Congress support the JKNC's promise to end reservation for Dalits, Gujjars, Bakarwals, and Pahadi communities, inflicting injustice upon them?"

He said the Congress wanted 'Shankaracharaya Hill' named as 'Takht-e-Suleiman' and Hari Hill as 'Koh-e-Maran'.

Another question by Shah was whether Congress supported NC's divisive politics of granting autonomy to Kashmir. Shah said the Modi government ended years of discrimination against Dalits, tribals, Pahadis, and backward communities by granting them reservation after the abrogation of Article 370 and 35-A. But the Congress and its ally JKNC want to end all these, he said.

"Does Rahul Gandhi support the JKNC manifesto, which calls for abolishing reservations for Dalits, Gujjars, Bakarwals and Pahadis? After allying with the NC, he should now clarify the Congress' stand on the reservation policy," he said.

The restoration of Article 370 and J&K's statehood as well as implementation of the autonomy resolution passed by the erstwhile assembly in 2000 are among the National Conference's 12 guarantees announced in its manifesto for the upcoming assembly polls.

After the abrogation of Article 370 and 35-A, the 90-member assembly of the Union Territory is going to the polls in three phases on September 18 and 25 and October 1.

Alliance with Abdullahs

Home Minister Amit Shah charged the Congress with repeatedly risking the nation's unity and security to satiate its greed for power. Shah asked Congress whether it wanted to support the National Conference's promise of a separate flag for Jammu and Kashmir. He alleged that the alliance has exposed the Congress' anti-reservation stance.

Old pension scheme to figure prominently in Modi meet with govt staff

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

FOR the first time in a decade, Prime Minister Narendra Modi is set to meet representatives of the central government employees on Saturday to discuss a slew of significant issues ahead of a possible announcement of a new pension scheme.

The Personnel Ministry has sent an invitation to JCM secretary Shiv Gopal Mishra and other members of the staff side of JCM to meet the Prime Minister.

The new pension scheme will be the focus of the meeting, and representatives of Central government employees, among others will present it. Shiva Gopal Mishra, Secretary of the Staff Side of the National Council (JCM) — a body fighting for the implementation of the Old Pension Scheme (OPS) — confirmed the meeting and expressed gratitude to the Prime Minister for addressing this long-standing issue.

Restoration of the old pension scheme is also expected to figure among the key issues during the meeting.

Expressing a positive outcome, Mishra said if their demands are met, more than 16 lakh central government employees, which include 8 lakh railway staff, are expected to benefit.

The meeting, scheduled to take place at the Prime Minister's residence, will involve ten members of the Joint Consultative Mechanism (JCM). According to sources, officials from the Personnel Ministry are also expected to be present at the meeting.

Mishra noted that staff representatives have been seeking an audience with the Prime Minister to discuss the old pension scheme and other related issues for some time. "We are thankful to Prime Minister Narendra Modi for calling us for a meeting on a slew of issues, prominent one related to the new pension scheme. We are hopeful that the meeting with him will yield positive results for us," he told this newspaper.

As per an official data, as on March 31, 2023, there were over 67.95 lakh Central government pensioners in the country, including the defense pensioners. The railways alone accounts for nearly 15 lakh pensioners followed by 4,32,968 from telecom and other departments.

Shun colonial-era black gown, instead go desi: Govt

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

THE Union Health Ministry has asked all Central government hospitals and medical teaching institutes, including AIIMS, to do away with the colonial-era black gown and cap during convocations and replace them with state-specific Indian traditional dresses.

This is not the first time the government has spoken about a dress code for convocations.

In 2015, the University Grants Commission (UGC) asked all higher educational institutions — both public and private — to go traditional in their convocation ceremonies. It has since then reiterated its request from time to time.

While some doctors praised the initiative, some said it is an attempt to divert attention from main health-related issues.

Dr Dhruv Chauhan, the national council coordinator of the Indian Medical Association-Junior Doctors Network, said, "In these crucial times when doctors across the country are protesting, the government should issue directives on our grievances by interacting with doctors. But we are witnessing notices on dress codes ... This is a diversionary tactic, and I believe the government should be involved with the young generation of doctors to understand the issues better."

However, Dr Rishi Raj Sinha, national general secretary of the Federation of All India Medical Association, said he supported the initiative as it is important to consider the practicality and comfort of the proposed dress code. "Traditional attire should be chosen to ensure that it is appropriate for the climate and comfortable for those participating in the ceremony," he said, adding that by emphasising local traditions, one can promote cultural pride and respect for the diverse heritage of India.

The letter, titled 'Identification of Dress Code for Central Government Medical Teaching Institutes', refers to the Panch Pran (five resolutions) outlined by the Prime Minister.

"It is observed that currently as a matter of practice, black robes and caps are being used during convocation by various institutes of the ministry. This attire originated in Europe during the Middle Ages and was introduced by the British to all their colonies. The above tradition is a colonial legacy which needs to be changed."

The health ministry, in a letter addressed to heads of various Central government medical institutes, said it has been decided that such institutes, including AIIMS and Institutes of National Importance (INIs) will design appropriate India dress code for the convocation ceremony based on local traditions of the state in which the institute is located.

Dress code for all Central govt medical institutes

The health ministry, in a letter addressed to heads of various Central government medical institutes, said it has been decided that such institutes, including AIIMS and Institutes of National Importance (INIs) will design appropriate India dress code for the convocation ceremony based on local traditions of the state in which the institute is located.

Nadda launches national medical register portal for allopathic doctors

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

UNION Health Minister JP Nadda launched a national medical register (NMR) portal on Friday, which will serve as a comprehensive and dynamic database for registered allopathic doctors in India.

The ministry plans to soon introduce a similar registry for paramedics and other healthcare professionals.

At the launch, Nadda described the national health register as a much-anticipated initiative that will enhance the digital healthcare ecosystem and ensure quality healthcare for the people of India.

"We are moving towards launching a similar register for paramedics and other healthcare professionals," he said.

Commending the National Medical Council (NMC) and National Health Authority for developing the NMR, Nadda noted, "The Prime Minister's vision is to make India digitally robust, which can only be achieved if the health ecosystem is also digitally resilient."

He further mentioned that the NMR will be continuously updated and improved to enhance the registration process on the portal.

The NMR is mandated under Section 31 of the NMC Act, 2019, which stipulates that the Ethics and Medical Registration Board of the NMC must maintain a national register in electronic form, containing the name, address, and all recognised qualifications of each licensed medical practitioner.

A unique feature of the NMR is its linkage with doctors' Aadhaar IDs, which ensures the authenticity of the individuals.

Nadda stated that State Medical Councils are key stakeholders in the development and maintenance of the NMR and facilitating the registration process. He urged them "for their active participation and to expedite the registration process," as their "efforts in authentication and speed of authentication will be crucial to the success of the NMR."

At the event, Minister of State for Health and Family Welfare, Anupriya Patel, said, "The need for NMR has been felt for a long time. It is crucial because authentic data on doctors across the country is essential. The data on doctors has been scattered and in need of revision and updating."

● Protests against sexual assault of two girls in Badlapur ● Lady doc in Jaipur hosp sought urgent help ● 14-yr-old was returning from tuition

Maha bandh called off after HC order

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AFTER the Bombay High Court restrained the MVA from the Maharashtra bandh on August 24 against the sexual assault of two KG girls in a school at Thane's Badlapur, the Opposition, on Friday, decided to stage a symbolic protest with black tapes on their mouth and black armbands under the statue of Dr BR Ambedkar.

A PIL was filed seeking a declaration that the bandh is illegal and unconstitutional.

A division bench of Chief Justice Devendra Kumar Upadhyaya and Justice Amit Borkar orally pronounced the order. The HC said, "Until further orders, all parties are restrained from proceeding with the bandh on August 24 or any other subsequent date."

Reacting to court order, Sharad Pawar said they decided to withdraw the bandh, which was aimed at registering people's anger against the crime. "The decision was within the legal and constitutional framework. But since the High Court has asked to restrain from it, we have called it off," the former union agriculture minister said.

Maharashtra Congress chief Nana Patole said they respect the court order. Therefore, instead of calling the bandh, they will put black tape on mouths and wear armbands in protest. He said his party will do this in every district.

The HC directed that a bandh by a political party, organisation or association would be unconstitutional.

The petitioners argued that the state-wide bandh would cripple the entire machinery and cause great inconvenience to the common people.

PIL filed against strike

A PIL was filed seeking a declaration that the bandh is illegal. A bench of Chief Justice Devendra Kumar Upadhyaya and Justice Amit Borkar orally pronounced the order. "Until further orders, all parties are restrained from proceeding with the bandh on August 24," the HC said.

Doc suspended on harassment plaint

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

JAIPUR'S prestigious Sawai Man Singh (SMS) Medical College has suspended a senior resident doctor days after a female medico lodged a serious complaint. On the night of August 18, the female doctor shared a disturbing message in a doctors' group and said, "Anything can happen to me, including rape and murder. I do not want to become the next Nirbhaya."

The message, which surfaced amid nationwide protests following the rape-murder of a trainee doctor in Kolkata, created an uproar. Taking the post seriously, the college administration reported the matter to the SMS police station. However, the doctor declined police intervention, insisting that the matter be handled by the college.

A committee of four doctors was subsequently formed to probe the allegations. Based on the committee's findings and demands from the Jaipur Association of Resident Doctors (JARD), the administration decided to suspend the accused senior resident doctor.

The female resident doctor wrote in a social media post, "A resident doctor at the college considers women as objects. He is a womaniser. I am gathering the courage to expose his true face. I am not safe at my workplace because he has threatened me with very bad things. He has political power. Should I wait until then? It could be anything from rape to murder..."

College Principal Dr Deepak Maheshwari confirmed that, based on the committee's report and the demands of JARD representatives, the accused resident doctor has been suspended until further notice.

SMS acts swiftly on charges

The college administration immediately reported the matter to the SMS police station. But the female resident doctor declined police intervention, insisting that the matter be handled by the SMS Medical College. A committee of four doctors was later formed to look into the charges. Based on its findings, action was taken against the accused.

Protest erupts over gang-rape of minor

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

A 14-year-old girl was allegedly gang-raped in Dhing area of Assam's Nagaon district, triggering an outrage among people who staged protests in different parts of the state. The incident occurred on Thursday evening when the Class 10 student was returning home from tuition.

After the crime, the minor was dumped by the roadside. Later, locals found her lying there in semi-conscious state and informed the police. The cops took her to a local health centre, which referred her to the Nagaon Medical College and Hospital. According to the hospital authority, the girl was out of danger.

Nagaon SP Swapnanil Deka said that one person has been arrested from a village located two kms away from the site of incident.

Minister Pijush Hazarika, who was sent to Dhing by CM Himanta Biswa Sarma, said that three persons were involved in the crime. "This is an attack on the indigenous people. One of the accused has been nabbed. Two others are absconding. They will be nabbed. All of them will get stringent punishment as per the law," Hazarika told the media.

Sarma said the culprits would not be spared. "The horrific incident at Dhing, involving a minor, is a crime against humanity and has struck our collective conscience. We will NOT SPARE anyone & BRING the perpetrators to JUSTICE," Sarma posted on 'X'.

The Paresh Baruah faction of insurgent outfit United Liberation Front of Assam demanded capital punishment for all those involved in the ghastly crime.

23 such incidents since polls

We found the involvement of certain people in these incidents. We will take the toughest action possible against the criminals," Sarma said.

Army mini-UAV develops snags, crosses LoC

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

A tactical surveillance drone (mini-UAV) of the Indian Army inadvertently crossed into Pakistan from the Line of Control (LoC) in Rajouri sector of Jammu and Kashmir on Friday.

A defence official said the drone was conducting a training mission along the LoC in Nikial sector of Rajouri. "During its training mission, the surveillance drone developed some snag and crossed into the other side of LoC in Rajouri's Bhimber Gali sector at around 9.25 am," he said.

Sources said the drone was found by the Pakistan army. A hotline message would be sent to the Pakistan army to return the drone. "Any message across the LoC is being sent through Director General of Military Operations (DGMO) level. In this instant case, the hotline message would be sent to the Pakistan army through DGMO level also," sources said.

The Indian Army has been using surveillance drones during anti-terror operations and counter-infiltration operations in J&K. The hi-tech drones are being used extensively in the forest areas of Rajouri, Poonch, Kathua, Doda, Kishtwar and Udhampur districts to counter terrorist attacks.

Schools, colleges told to hold special events on Krishna Janmashtami

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

JUST a month after directing schools across Madhya Pradesh to organise special two-day events to mark the Guru Purnima festival, the Mohan Yadav-led BJP government has come out with similar directions for schools and colleges on Krishna Janmashthami (August 26).

The general administration department has issued a six-point order to all district collectors on Wednesday to ensure that all schools and colleges (government and private) hold lectures by scholars and also organise cultural events related to Lord Krishna's teachings, aspects of friendship and life philosophy and values.

The order has also mentioned that lectures and events pertaining to India's ancient and special traditions, like Yoga, should be organised in schools and colleges on August 26.

The order has asked the district collectors to ensure cleaning of all Lord Krishna temples and organising of cultural events there on Janmashtami.

The order had a special mention on special cultural events at religious hotspots, which are believed to have been associated with Lord Krishna's life, including Janapava (Dewas), Amjhera (Dhar), Narayan and Sandipani Ashram (Ujjain).

The Congress opposed the order, saying educational institutions are centres of learning. "Why this government is working at ruining educational institutions. There is a provision of declaring holidays on religious events," said Congress MLA from Bhopal-Central Arif Masood.

Responding to Masood's opposition, BJP MLA from Bhopal's Huzur, Rameshwar Sharma said, "Our government has decided to celebrate Janmashtami across the state. It is a good move by the government."

Barbed wires, teargas, water cannon on BJP's Ranchi march

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

Police personnel and BJYM men during Yuva Aakrosh Rally in Ranchi on Friday | PTI

SEVERAL police personnel as well as BJP workers were injured in clashes after the police resorted to teargas and water cannons to stop saffron party workers marching towards CM House at Morhabadi ground in Ranchi on Friday.

The 'Yuva Akrosh Rally' by Bhartiya Janta Yuva Morcha (BYJM) was organised against the state government's alleged failure to fulfill promises on unemployment allowance and jobs ahead of 2019 assembly polls in Jharkhand.

Thousands of BJP workers and leaders marched towards the CM's residence, only to be intercepted midway by the police by using water cannons and teargas shells. Clashes erupted between BJP workers and the police, stones thrown as the protesters tried to march towards the CM House by cutting the barbed wires put on their way to stop them.

One of the teargas shells fell on the stage where senior BJP leaders of the state were addressing the rally. A number of leaders and workers were injured, along with the officer incharge of Lower Bazar police station, Dayanand Kumar, during the clashes.

State BJP president Babulal Marandi came down heavily on the state government over the use of barbed wires to stop unemployed youth from marching to the CM residence.

"This is inhuman, shameful and reprehensible. Hemant ji, in the coming elections, these youth will uproot you from your throne," posted Marandi on social media platform 'X'. Till date, barbed wire were used only at two places — at international borders and for the protection of wild animals, Marandi added.

Former Union minister Arjun Munda also attacked Hemant Soren saying that his government is so immersed in family politics that it removed a tribal CM. "In this family party, there is no respect for outsiders. They have no concern for the tribals," said Munda.

The JMM government had talked about giving 75% employment in the private sector, but now is not in a position to tell how many people got jobs, Munda said.

Munda said that the Soren government is following the footsteps of Mamata Banerjee in West Bengal. "Attempts are being made to create West Bengal-like situation in the state," he said, adding, "We have gathered here to get justice for the people of this state."

4 Nepal residents buried alive in U'khand landslip

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

HEAVY rains in Uttarakhand hills triggered a landslide in Phata, Rudraprayag late Thursday, killing four Nepali citizens. The victims were buried under the debris caused by the landslip. Speaking to this newspaper, State Disaster Response Force (SDRF) commandant Manikant Mishra said a team led by inspector Karn Singh was sent to the scene late at night, following an alert from the district control room.

The SDRF team had to trek more than 2km as a crucial passage was blocked by boulders. They swiftly initiated a rescue operation, said SDRF sources.

Inspector Kavindra Sajwan of the SDRF said upon reaching the scene, the rescue team found that the heavy rainfall made it impossible for a JCB machine to reach the spot. The SDRF personnel then manually dug through the debris.

The deceased have been identified as Tul Bahadur, Purna Nepali, and Kishna Parihar, all residents of Chiton Oil Narayani, Nepal, and Chikhu Bhura, a resident of Dehlekh, Anchal, Karnali, Nepal. SDRF sources said the death toll from landslides caused by monsoon rainfall has increased to 23, with the demise of four Nepalese citizens adding to the toll.

Strategically-located village on Kedarnath route

Located around 32 km from Kedarnath in Rudraprayag district, Phata is a small yet significant village that plays host to pilgrims undertaking the Kedarnath Yatra. Its strategically-located helipad offers helicopter services to Kedarnath, cementing Phata's importance.

Located around 32 km from Kedarnath in Uttarakhand's Rudraprayag district, Phata is a small yet significant village that plays host to pilgrims undertaking the Kedarnath Yatra. Its strategically-located helipad offers helicopter services to Kedarnath, cementing Phata's importance in the journey to the pilgrimage site.

According to the Meteorological Centre, by the third week of the month, the state typically receives 265.72 mm of rainfall. However, due to a sluggish monsoon, only 264.76 mm of rainfall was recorded, resulting in a 4 per cent rainfall deficit.

But in a sudden turn of events, the weather pattern has changed dramatically, with heavy rainfall lashing the hills and plains. Three days back, the aftermath of a cloudburst in Tehri left several villages struggling to cope with the monsoon fury. Rescue operations are underway to locate the missing person.

A devastating cloud burst in Ghuttu village in the Ghansali block of the state last week triggered landslides that caused widespread damage to properties in the region. According to District Disaster Management Officer, Brijesh Bhatt, the incident resulted in the loss of domestic animals.

The IMD has issued an orange alert for the Himalayan state, forecasting heavy to very heavy rainfall in the next 24 hours. "Isolated very heavy rainfall also very likely over Uttarakhand," the IMD said.

According to the Uttarakhand State Disaster Management Authority, on average every year, 75 lakh hectares of land is affected, 1,600 lives are lost and the damage caused to crops, houses and public utilities is ₹1,805 crore due to floods.

NGT pulls up Mann govt, fines ₹1K cr for failing to manage waste in Punjab

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE National Green Tribunal (NGT) has imposed a fine of ₹1,026 crore on the Punjab government as environmental compensation for failing to manage waste and untreated sewage. The environment watchdog has issued notices asking why proceedings should not be initiated against top officials for defying an earlier order.

The matter has snowballed into political controversy with opposition parties hitting out at the state government. Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) president Sukhbir Singh Badal has appealed to the NGT to penalise the ruling AAP for not complying with environmental laws. He urged the environmental watchdog to hold Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann responsible for not managing pollution and prosecuting him instead of officers.

The NGT in the order dated July 25 directed the Punjab chief secretary to deposit the amount with the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB) within a month and submit a compliance report. It added that the government was fined ₹2,080 crore on September 22, 2022, for its inability to properly dispose of the untreated waste. The Punjab government has only deposited ₹100 crore so far.

ORDER, DISORDER

Sept 27: The NGT will review compliance with its orders

July 25, 2024: NGT order asks Punjab to deposit ₹1,026 cr with CPCB within a month

Sept 22, 2022: Govt was fined ₹2,080 cr state for its inability to prevent the discharge of untreated sewage

WHAT THE STATE HAS DONE: PUNJAB HAS DEPOSITED ONLY ₹100 CR SO FAR

The tribunal added that this non-compliance is considered a serious violation under Section 26 of the NGT Act, 2010.

The tribunal found that many towns and local bodies in the state were not processing solid waste effectively, leading to large amounts of untreated waste. The state's efforts to manage plastic and biomedical waste were also found lacking, with many violations noted across different districts. It also observed significant gaps in the treatment of liquid waste in Punjab.

Due to the continued violations and lack of progress, the NGT has now imposed a strict deadline for the Punjab government to comply with its orders. The chief secretary has been directed to file regular progress reports and show cause as to why further legal action should not be taken against the state officials responsible for these violations.

The next hearing on this matter is scheduled for September 27 where NGT will review the compliance with its orders.

Harris 1st Black, Asian American woman to accept US prez

Pledges a 'new way forward' if she beats Republican Donald Trump in November election

WASHINGTON

KAMALA Harris accepted the Democratic presidential nomination in Chicago on Thursday before a rapturous crowd, pledging a "new way forward" if she beats Republican Donald Trump in November's blockbuster election.

The 59-year-old sought to strike a presidential tone as she delivered a message of unity and opportunity for Americans following one of the most extraordinary turnarounds in US political history.

She lashed out at Trump, accusing him of trying to "take our country" backwards and of cozying up to foreign "tyrants" like Russian President Vladimir Putin. "On behalf of everyone whose story could only be written in the greatest nation on earth, I accept your nomination to be president of the United States of America," the vice president said to huge cheers. "I will be a president who unites us around our highest aspirations," she vowed.

US Vice President Kamala Harris waves as she arrives to speak on the fourth and last day of the Democratic National Convention in Chicago on Thursday night | AFP

The convention became a giant party to celebrate Harris's astonishing ascent from something of a political afterthought to Democratic standard bearer upon President Joe Biden's surprise decision to end his reelection bid. A sea of waving Stars and Stripes flags and chants of "USA" filled the arena as jubilant Democrats anointed Harris. She was later joined on stage by her running mate Tim Walz and their families, as they held their arms aloft while 1,00,000 red, white and blue balloons tumbled from the ceiling.

Country act The Chicks sang a version of "The Star-Spangled Banner" while pop star Pink also performed as the Democrats rolled out a list of celebrity backers.

Harris pledged to be a "president for all Americans" in a bid to reach out to undecided voters. With the November election, Americans have a "fleeting opportunity to move past the bitterness, cynicism and divisive battles of the past -- a chance to chart a new way forward," she promised.

Harris then took aim at 78-year-old Trump, whose campaign has been upended by having to face a woman two decades younger, rather than the increasingly frail Biden, 81.

"We know what a second Trump term would look like," she said, referring to a right-wing think tank's blueprint for a future Republican government. "It's all laid out in 'Project 2025,' written by his closest advisors, and its sum total is to pull our country back to the past." AFP

Focus on China's N-expansion, US reorients strategy

WASHINGTON

US President Joe Biden approved a classified nuclear strategic plan that reorients America's deterrent strategy to focus on China's rapid expansion in its nuclear arsenal, The New York Times reported.

It comes as the US believes China's nuclear stockpiles will rival "the size and diversity" of the United States and Russia's over the next decade, the report said. The Pentagon estimates that China's nuclear arsenal would expand to 1,000 warheads by 2030 and 1,500 by 2035, the report said. The report has drawn a furious response from Chinese state media with the Global Times calling it a baseless nuclear threat to secure more defense budgets for the domestic military-industrial complex. Meanwhile, President Joe Biden plans to dispatch his national security adviser Jake Sullivan to China as the White House aims to sharpen its focus on foreign policy in the Democrat's final months in office. Sullivan's visit to meet with his counterpart, Wang Yi, is expected to take place next week, according to a person familiar with planning for the trip who spoke on the condition of anonymity. The White House is expected to announce plans for the trip later today.

Sullivan has met with Chinese officials several times throughout the administration to discuss the two economic rivals complicated relationship, but this will be his first visit to China. The expected announcement comes as Biden is vacationing in California's Santa Ynez Valley. The high-level visit by Sullivan to China could potentially set the ground for another face-to-face meeting for Biden with Chinese President Xi Jinping.

The two leaders last November spent four hours together at a bucolic Northern California estate "in meetings, a working lunch and a garden stroll". Agencies

Lanka's main Tamil party splits ahead of prez election

COLOMBO

THE Tamil National Alliance (TNA), Sri Lanka's main Tamil party, has suffered a blow with its chair S Sritharan's decision to endorse P Ariyanethran who is contesting the island nation's presidential election as the Tamil minority's common candidate.

Sritharan on Thursday publicly backed Ariyanethran who had been asked to show cause by the TNA for submitting his nomination to contest the September 21 presidential election. Sritharan had presided over the Politburo meeting of the TNA last week which had decided to take disciplinary action against Ariyanethran.

Sritharan was elected as the TNA's main group Ilankai Thamil Arasu Katchi (ITAK) leader in January this year but his appointment was challenged in court by another section of the party over alleged irregularities at the intra-party election to appoint him.

The TNA is yet to make its stand official on which of the main candidates they would support. TNA leader MA Sumanthiran said it would be counterproductive for the Tamils to field a common Tamil candidate instead of supporting one of the frontrunners representing the majority Sinhalese.

The TNA support to anyone would hinge on their pledges to address Tamil concerns, he said. They are to continue their talks with the main candidates. About 2.2 million of the 17.1 million voters come from the Tamil regions in the north and east provinces. A record 39 candidates were in the fray in the presidential polls. Idroos Mohamed Ilyas, 79, an independent candidate from Puttalam died last night from a heart attack while he was being taken to hospital, his family said. PTI

NATO base raises security level

Brussels: NATO said on Friday it had lowered its security level at an airbase in western Germany after briefly raising it over an unspecified "potential threat". The scare follows a trespassing attempt at the same site last week, which came around the same time as a separate case of suspected sabotage at a German military base. "We raised the security level at NATO Airbase Geilenkirchen based on intelligence information indicating potential threat," the base said, with "non-mission essential staff... sent home as a precautionary measure"

‘Don’t see serious challenge on deposit front’

SBI chief says bank can support loan growth despite lower deposit growth, attributes it to investments in govt sec

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @Mumbai

STATE Bank of India chairman Dinesh Khara has said even with slowing liabilities addition the bank has been booking stronger asset growth, which means the former is not posing any challenges to the lender as it’s able to support the uptick in advances.

Khara said he does not see any serious challenge on the deposit growth front.

The statement comes amid rising concern being expressed by the Reserve Bank and the government over the slowing deposit growth. Governor Shaktikanta Das has four times flagged the issue while finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman met the heads of public sector bank last week and asked them to devise innovative methods to woo depositors back to the bank counters.

As per the latest RBI data, while credit growth slowed to 13.8% for the last fortnight, deposit accretion slowed further to 10.3%.

“We are in a position to support our loan book growth well and I think so long as we can support the loan book growth well, I don’t think we have any challenges,” he told reporters on the sidelines of an ICAI event here on Friday.

On the deposit growth challenges for the banking system, the chairman of the largest bank said our banking system is much bigger than that of the markets in the developing countries.

In the first quarter of the current fiscal, SBI recorded an 8.18% year-on-year growth in deposit at ₹49.02 lakh crore, as against ₹45.31 lakh crore in the same period last year. However, on a sequential basis, the bank’s deposits fell marginally by 0.29%. “If you look at England, the banking system continues to be bigger than the markets. So, I think much of it will be the choice of the investors and the kind of products which will be rolled out by the banking system,” Khara, who will be hanging up his boot on August 28 after being in the corner room office for close to four years, added.

Khara further said the bank can support loan growth despite lower deposit growth, attributing it to unwinding investments in government securities, which is currently is over Rs 16 trillion.

The SBI chief also added that the bank is unwinding a part of its excess investments in government securities to arrange the required resources to support the loan growth. Banks are holding over 23% in SLR as against the regulatory mandate of 18%.

While some experts have been opining that money is moving out of bank counters and flowing into higher yielding capital market alternatives, SBI’s own in-house researchers last week termed the concerns as a “statistical myth”, saying the overall quantum of incremental deposits has been higher than advances since FY22.

Bangladesh owes $800 million in dues to Adani Power

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AMID student-led protest in Bangladesh, Adani Power Limited, the power generating unit of Adani Group, has accumulated unpaid dues of up to $800 million from the country.

According to a report, Bangladesh Bank’s newly-appointed Governor Ahsan H. Mansur warned that if the payments are not made, electricity supply may be halted. However, Adani Power has no plans to cut off supply lines for now, but may face pressure from lenders and coal suppliers if payments remain outstanding.

Despite the financial turmoil, Adani Power has assured that it will continue to supply power to Bangladesh from its 1,600MW plant in Jharkhand, which is dedicated to supplying 100% of its electricity to the neighboring nation.

The Power Purchase Agreement (PPA) for the power supply was signed between Adani Power (Jharkhand) and the Bangladesh Power Development Board (BPDB). The plant currently sources coal from Adani Group’s mines in Australia.

Recently, the power ministry amended power import/export guidelines to enable electricity supply from plants set up as export-oriented units to sell power within India.

The amendment allows the government to permit connection of such generating stations to the Indian grid to facilitate the sale of power within India in case of sustained non-scheduling of full or part capacity or default notice issued by the generator for any default, including delayed payment under the PPA.

This amendment comes after the recent political crisis in Bangladesh, which saw the Sheikh Hasina-led government forced to resign and the former Prime Minister of the country fleeing to India for safety. The move is seen as a precautionary measure to ensure power supply and mitigate potential losses for Adani Power.

Adani Group has not issued an official statement on the matter. The delayed payments highlight the financial and geopolitical risks Adani Group faces as it expands globally, particularly in neighboring countries like Sri Lanka, Bhutan, and Nepal. This expansion aligns with Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi’s broader policy goals in the region.

ED raids REL chairperson premises, freezes ESOPs

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

RELIGARE Enterprises Ltd (REL) has confirmed that Directorate of Enforcement (ED) officials conducted searches at the premises of Key Managerial Personnel, including Executive Chairperson Rashmi Saluja on Wednesday.

The other REL officials whose premises were searched are Nitin Agarwal, Group CFO, Nishant Singhal, Group General Counsel of Religare Enterprises Limited (REL/ Company) and Chirag Jain, Chief Operating Officer of Religare Finvest Limited (Wholly owned subsidiary of the Company), on August 21, 2024. The ED has also frozen the Employee stock ownership plan (ESOP) Shares of Care Health Insurance Limited, the health insurance subsidiary of the Company (CHIL), received by Rashmi Saluja, Nitin Aggarwal and Nishant Singhal. Incidentally, the ESOP Shares of CHIL issued to Saluja are the subject matter of an Order of Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority of India (IRDAI) in respect of which an Appeal is pending before the Securities Appellate Tribunal (SAT), REL said in an exchange filing.

Earlier this month, the SAT had granted a stay till the final decision on the order by the IRDAI against Saluja on the allotment of ESOPs. The tribunal has prohibited Saluja from exercising any pending ESOPs allotted by Care Health or diluting her shares until the final decision.

The ED’s case originated from a first information report (FIR) filed by Vaibhav Gawli, a resident of Mumbai. He has alleged that funds were siphoned from Religare Finvest.

In the FIR he filed, Gawli has named 14 persons as accused, including the erstwhile promoters of REL (Shivinder Mohan Singh and Malvinder Mohan Singh), the four Acquirer companies of the Burman Group who made the open offer to the shareholders of REL (MB Finmart Pvt. Ltd., Puran Associates Pvt. Ltd., VIC Enterprises Pvt. Ltd. and Milky Investment & Trading Company); Members of the Burman Family (Mohit Burman, Vivekchand Burman, Monika Burman, Anandchand Burman, Mini Murman, Adityachand Burman); Abhay Kumar Agarwal (associated with the Acquirers) and JM Financial Ltd. (Manager to the open offer).

AUGUST FACTORY ACTIVITY SLOWS DOWN

Japan’s factory activity contracted in August amid subdued demand though the pace of decline slowed. The service sector expanded, showing upbeat conditions in some industries, a business survey showed on August 22. Rising price pressures and labour constraints continued to be a concern for Japanese firms, especially in the service sector, the survey found. The au Jibun Bank flash Japan manufacturing purchasing managers’ index (PMI) rose to 49.5 in August from 49.1 in July. The index stayed below the 50.0 threshold separating growth from contraction for a second straight month. The subindex for new orders contracted at a slower pace in August, while that for output expanded as higher workforce capacity helped clear a backlog of orders in the manufacturing sector.

SINGAPORE

JUL CORE INFLATION RISES 2.5%, LOWEST IN OVER 2-YEAR

Singapore’s key consumer price gauge increased 2.5% in July from a year earlier, the smallest rise since February 2022, official data showed on Friday. The core inflation rate was at 2.9%, which is same as what was reported in June. It was the smallest annual increase in the core price index since February 2022, when it rose 2.2%. Headline inflation in February was up 2.4% from the same month last year and was the lowest headline inflation rate since August 2021. Inflation has cooled from a peak of 5.5% in early 2023, but only dropped below 3% in June. The Monetary Authority of Singapore expects core inflation to ease more significantly in the final quarter of this year. It has forecast core inflation at 2.5% to 3.5% this year.

SOUTH KOREA

BANK OF KOREA KEEPS POLICY RATES UNCHANGED

South Korea’s central bank kept interest rates unchanged on Thursday, however, it revived expectations for an imminent policy easing that some economists see happening as soon. The Bank of Korea (BOK) held the benchmark rate at 3.5% in a unanimous decision. Governor Rhee Chang-yong said four of the bank’s seven voting members were open to a rate cut within the next three months. In its decision statement, the BOK said the bank needs to “examine the proper timing of rate cuts while maintaining a restrictive monetary policy stance.” With price pressures cooling and the recovery grinding to a halt in the second quarter, economists expect the BOK to step back from policy aimed at cooling demand.

Finance ministry to issue circular on GST Amnesty Scheme in Oct or Nov

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

THE Ministry of Finance will soon issue a circular regarding the much-anticipated goods and services tax (GST) Amnesty Scheme, which was recently proposed in the Budget 2024, as per sources.

The scheme aims to provide relief to taxpayers by waiving interest and penalties under certain conditions for tax matters arising between July 1, 2017, and March 31, 2020.

It covers show cause notices (SCNs), adjudicating orders, and appeal orders issued for the financial years 2017-18, 2018-19, and 2019-20. According to sources, under the scheme, taxpayers can benefit from a waiver of interest and penalties if they pay the full amount of tax due by March 31, 2025.

“However, cases concerning refunds are explicitly excluded from the scheme. Taxpayers currently involved in appeals or court proceedings must withdraw these cases to be eligible for amnesty. Furthermore, once a case is resolved under the scheme, it cannot be appealed against,” said a government source.

The applicability of the scheme is expected to commence around October or November 2024, following the issuance of the official notification.

Additionally, there is ongoing industry representation advocating for the inclusion of cases with demands solely for interest or penalties, as well as for the consideration of transitional credit disputes under the scheme.

The scheme operates on a SCN or order-wise basis, necessitating taxpayers to address all issues related to a specific SCN or order if they choose to participate.

“We have represented that in case tax amount has been paid earlier and only interest and/or penalty are pending, technically these are not included in the Scheme as per enacted Section 128A of CGST Act; these cases should be included. Another issue is that there must be a provision for carving out the three FYs 17-18 to 19-20 out of the SCN/Order for which Amnesty can be availed; whereas the balance years can be mitigated by the taxpayer, incase desired,” Vivek Jalan, Partner Tax Connect Advisory Services LLP, A PAN India Multidisciplinary Firm said.

“Another representation is that ITC Ledger should be allowed to be used for making payment of tax under the Scheme. Yet another representation is in case for the said FYs there are disputes for time barring period of ITC u/s 16(4) for which relief is available under the new Sections 16(5) and 16(6) of CGST Act; In such case these amounts u/s 16(4) should be allowed to be reduced from the disputed amount for which the benefit of the Scheme can be availed,” he further added.

Tax department made ₹1.57L cr refunds so far

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Income Tax Department has processed refunds worth ₹1.57 lakh crore so far, according to a top government official. As per him, tax refunds are being processed in batches based on the order of return filing dates and the tax amounts.

Experts said while most taxpayers have got refunds, there are many who are yet to receive, mainly those with large refunds. Also, there are people who have small tax refunds but have not yet received.

“Those who have not yet received their refunds need to check if they have got notification from the tax department. Also, they may wait for one or two weeks to get the refund,” a top official said when asked about reason behind in delay of refunds for some taxpayers.

Revenue Secretary Sanjay Malhotra on Wednesday said close to 4 crore Income Tax Returns (ITRs) for the Assessment Year 2024-25 have been processed in just 15 days following the July 31 filing deadline for individuals. As of the deadline, over 7.28 crore ITRs had been filed. The department has processed about 4.98 crore ITRs, with notifications sent to taxpayers. About 3.92 crore ITRs were processed in less than two weeks.

Telecom players meet Jyotiraditya Scindia to discuss regulations on OTT platforms

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

TELECOM minister Jyotiraditya Scindia recently met with top telecom service providers to discuss the regulation of Over-the-Top (OTT) communication services.

The meeting included Vodafone Idea CEO Akshaya Moondra, Reliance Jio managing director Pankaj Pawar, and Cellular Operators Association of India (COAI) Director General S P Kochhar. BSNL Chairman Robert J Ravi also participated. Telcos reiterated their demand to bring OTT services like WhatsApp, Telegram, and Skype under regulation, referencing the Telecommunication Act 2023. They argued that the bill’s broad definition of “message” could encompass OTT communication services. Other topics included relaxing norms for quality of service. Kochhar said TSPs still grapple with Right of Way (RoW) issues when acquiring permissions for infra deployment on public and private land for installation of towers and fiber-optic cables. The situation is aggravated by additional requirement of street furniture for 5G networks. Interference from other wireless devices and electromagnetic interference, degrades signal quality and network performance.

Telcos have been advocating for OTT regulation, contending that these services offer similar functionalities to traditional telecom operators but are not subject to the same regulatory requirements.

GQG Partners raises 1% stake in Ambuja Cements

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

ADANI Group’s trusted investor GQG Partners has increased its stake in Ambuja Cements by 1% by purchasing shares worth ₹1,679 crore on Friday. The stake was acquired via block deals that saw the Adani family selling shares worth ₹4,251 crore in Ambuja Cements.

This has increased GQG Partners’ stake in Ambuja to 2.4%. US-based GQG had first invested in Adani Group in March 2023 when its 10 listed companies were bleeding due to a Hindenburg Research report. Besides GQG, National Pension System Trust and SBI Life Insurance were the other main buyers, acquiring Ambuja shares of ₹525 crore and ₹500 crore, respectively. The shares were sold at ₹625.5 each. Ambuja shares closed at ₹635 apiece on Friday on the NSE. Following the share sale, Adani family’s stake in the cement company came down to 67.3%.

Before Friday’s block deals, the Adani family owned a 70.33% stake in Ambuja, which it acquired from Swiss firm Holcim in May 2022 and became the country’s second-largest cement manufacturer overnight.

This share sale is seen as a part of the Adani family’s strategy to balance its $125 billion empire whose operation ranges from managing airports to running the power generating units. On Thursday, TNIE reported that the promoters of Adani Group were likely to reduce their stake in three group entities – Adani Power, Ambuja Cement and Adani Wilmar – to raise ₹42,000 crore. The money raised will be used to reduce debt of the group, sources said. Adani Group has a debt of ₹1.81 lakh crore as of March 31.

The promoter family is likely to offload a major stake in Adani Power. The family, which owns 71.71% stake in Adani Power, may sell 5% stake in the electricity generation firm. It has a market cap of ₹2.6 lakh crore. The promoters are likely to sell shares in Adani Wilmar.

The stake sale comes a month after Adani family raised stake in five group companies - Adani Energy Solutions, Adani Enterprises, Ambuja Cements, Adani Power, and Adani Green Energy by investing ₹23,000 crore during the April-June quarter.

Neeraj shows 'fighting spirit'

Olympic silver medallist had to produce a late surge to finish in top two at Lausanne

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

WHILE other Paris Olympic medallists are back in India, Neeraj Chopra is still competing on the circuit. India's most decorated individual Olympian, despite niggles and an ongoing groin issue, has decided to end the season with a couple of Diamond League meetings at least. Before the Olympics, he did not want to risk aggravating his injury. Now, however, with the season winding down, the athlete is keen on ending it on a high. For much of the night in Lausanne, during the Diamond League on Thursday, Neeraj looked a tad tired. A bit jaded. His series in the first four rounds were modest by his standards – 82.10m, 83.21m, 83.13m and 82.34m.

It seemed like the truly consistent throws were out of his reach. He had told reporters after the silver medal in Olympics that he was carrying a groin injury (adductor to be precise) and would assess with his team after the season.

The sky looked gloomy and when Grenada's Anderson Peters threw 90.61m in his last throw, Neeraj had to produce something spectacular. Yet, it was not the last throw that Neeraj would be happy with. The penultimate throw of 85.58m gave him a lifeline and hope. Until then he was languishing in the fourth position behind Artur Felfner of Ukraine who had thrown 83.38m on his second attempt. Germany's Julian Weber had a best 87.08m in his second throw and was lying second behind Peters who led with a 88.49m throw.

It was a lifeline because if not for the 85.58m in his fifth throw, Neeraj, according to DL rule, would have been out. Only the top three get the final sixth throw. Neeraj was third behind Peters and Weber after the fifth throw and was the last one to take the final throw. After Peters' 90.61m, Weber managed 82.33m. Neeraj hurled the javelin with all his might and turned around and yelled. The javelin cut through the night sky and it seemed like it would breach the 90m-mark bit it tailed and fell at 89.49m – his season's best. His consistency was intact. He has never failed to finish below second position in the last two years.

For someone who prefers to lead right from the word go, Lausanne was a bit different. The allusion to "fighting spirit" he made during a conversation with the host broadcaster showed the importance of the last two throws. For a champion it is not easy to be pushed from the perch. Neeraj also confessed how Julius Yego of Kenya helped him relax during his the final throw.

Initially, he said the body was not feeling very good. "I had to push myself mentally in the final throw because (Anderson) Peters had thrown 90m," he said. Neeraj said that during his first few throws, he was thinking a bit too much. "I was thinking of doing this and that but in the last throw I did not think too much. He (Yego) told me relax and throw then you will throw far. I followed his advice." Neeraj, speaking about his injury, said that it did not flare up post Paris. He is expected to compete at Diamond League final in Burssels next.

UPSWING

INDIA'S GOLDEN HUE AT U17 WORLD WRESTLING

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

WRESTLER Neha Sangwan might be just 17 but her international records for the past two years look impeccable. She competed in two tournaments this year winning gold in both with the latest coming at the ongoing U17 World Championships in Amman, Jordan on Thursday. Before this, she had won gold in the U17 Asian Championships. This year, Neha won all eight bouts scoring 74 points and conceding only four. It was a shade better than 2023 wherein she won seven out of eight bouts across two tournaments winning a gold (U17 Asian C'ships) and a bronze (U17 Worlds) respectively.

Going by the numbers, Neha certainly is the star in the making. What makes her story more interesting is the fact that she is from Balali, Vinesh Phogat's village and has been drawing inspiration from the two-time Worlds medallist for years.

On a day when Indian women clinched as many as four gold medals, Neha's feat stood out as she defeated Japanese So Tsutsui 10-0 in the 57kg final by technical superiority to change her previous year's bronze into gold. The Indian wrestler was ranked 14 while her counterpart from Japan was world no 3. Neha hails from a wrestling family as her grandfather Kartar Singh and father Amit Sangwan were also wrestlers in their youth. "We garlanded Vinesh on her return to Balali from Paris. She is not only an inspiration to Neha but also for women wrestlers from across the country," father Amit told this daily.

Earlier, Neha pinned Mairi Mani of Greece in her opening bout before defeating Georgia's Miranda Kapanadze 10-0 via technical superiority in the quarterfinal. Throughout her gold-winning campaign, she conceded points only to Anna Stratan of Kazakhstan in the semifinal wherein she won 8-4.

Pulkit

Neha Sangwan

Back with a bang

Pulkit is another Indian wrestler who pocketed gold. The yellow metal in the 65kg, however, felt like an Olympic gold for the wrestler and her family as she was returning to the international competition after a gap of more than two years following surgery on her right knee. "I cannot describe the feeling in words. When she won the trials for the competition we both cried a lot. Had I been in Jordan, we would have done the same," Parbhat Kandola, Pulkit's father told this daily.

Parbhat is an electrical engineer and works for a construction company in Jind, Haryana. He always wanted his daughter to pursue wrestling but the injury during the 2022 U17 Asian Championships has almost shattered his dream. Before that, he used to run an electrical shop but has to shut it down to attend to the needs of her daughter, who was only 15 then. "The dream was almost over but my college mate Amit Joon, who runs a construction company, came to my rescue. He not only gave me a job but also made sure my daughter got operated on by Dr Dinshaw Pardiwala in Mumbai. I can never repay him for whatever he has done for my daughter and me," added the father.

For six months, Pulkit tried to heal the ligament injury through physiotherapy on an advice from the experts but finally opted for the surgery as there was no improvements. She underwent the operation in January 2023 and was in rehabilitation for the next eight months. "All her counterparts were participating and winning medals during that period. It was difficult to keep her motivated but she never lost hope. The gold in Jordan is a reminder that you can achieve your dreams if you pursue it with dedication," signed off the father.

Community wrestling

Unlike Neha and Pulkit, wrestler Aditi, who won 43kg gold, is a product of a community wrestling centre in Daulatabad, Gurgaon. The centre was started by wrestling connoisseurs including Aditi's father Swapan Janghu, who competed in state-level competitions. "The centre helped our children pursue wrestling seriously. We made sure wrestlers get all the facilities including mat. We have also hired an NIS qualified coach for the purpose. Aditi's medal will fuel more dreams in our locality now," hoped Swapan.

Meanwhile, Mansi Lather also bagged 73kg gold. On Friday, Kajal beat Rybak Oleksandra of Ukraine to win 69kg gold while Shrutika Shivaji Patil lost the 46kg final to settle for silver.

Tough for me if I recall Oly setback: Nishant

ANMOL GURUNG @ Chennai

BOXING, in general, is a harsh sport. Cuts and bruises are widespread and the participants, over the course of time, learn to deal with it. It can get even harsher sometimes as Nishant Dev, found out during the Paris Olympics. A controversial decision crushed his dreams into pieces and he's yet to recover after that harsh outcome.

Nishant, who was representing the country in the men's 71kg category, was following the script to perfection and was just a step away from achieving his career-long dream — an Olympic medal. In the quarterfinal bout against Marco Verde of Mexico, Nishant had to operate with the same vigour that he had shown during the previous bouts to make history. Like in his earlier fights, the 23-year-old started with conviction, giving himself an early advantage. After a close second round and a tough finishing round, Nishant was quite certain that he had done enough. A positive outcome on the day would have been life-changing. However, what followed was doom and gloom. That decision once again brought the sport's refereeing and judging under scrutiny.

Almost three weeks have passed by since that heartbreak and Nishant, who is generally full of spirit, is visibly low. In fact, he refrains from talking about the subject with most as it gives him flashbacks of that moment. "I can just continue to work hard. Even if I think about that decision, nothing will happen now. That's why I try to distance myself from those talks. Family was also very upset. If I think about it and talk about it over and over again, then it becomes difficult for me," Nishant said. Refereeing and judging in the sport in the Olympics have always been in focus. Nishant has undergone a surgery in the past, has spent countless hours of training behind the scenes and is someone who's well-aware of the sacrifices the athletes make. And he's hopeful that there's reforms in judging. "I wish that the next time a competition is held, whatever competition it may be, the scoring system/judging should be changed so that it does not hinder the career of the boxers," he said.

His family members and friends have been providing him all the support at this hour and the 2023 World Championships bronze medallist is also getting the necessary help from a sports psychologist.

"I have been in touch with the sports psychologist. It is quite good. She tells me what to do, what not to do. She asks me to be involved in various activities and not to think about the things that bother me."

Spotlight on Arsenal, Barca

Arsenal face an early season test at Villa while Barcelona, already in trouble off the field, face Athletic. A look at some of Saturday's football fixtures...

BRIGHTON VS MAN UNITED | 5.00 PM

At some level, Man United want to do what Brighton have done very successfully. Player trading. There's no question about the identity of the bigger club but the Seagulls' transfer game has been outstanding. On the field also Brighton have generally fared well against the big boys. Against Saturday's opposition, Brighton have won four of the last five games.

BARCELONA VS ATHLETIC | 10.30 PM

Barcelona's off field financial problems show little signs of abating. Ilkay Gundogan has gone back to Man City. To compound matters, their big summer signing, Dani Olmo, is yet to be registered. On the other hand, Nico Williams, the player who they wanted, remains at Athletic and will be keen to inflict some early damage.

ASTON VILLA VS ARSENAL | 10.00 PM

Leagues are won and lost over the course of 10 months but Arsenal may well look back at last season's twin fixtures against Villa. They lost both those games without scoring a goal and, in the end, Man City just about pipped them. The Londoners have continued to grow over the last few years but this is a big obstacle for them against a side who will fancy it.

Saturday's EPL fixtures (all matches @7:30pm): Tottenham vs Everton; Crystal Palace vs West Ham; Southampton vs Nottm Forest; Fulham vs Leicester; Man City vs Ipswich.

In series against NZ, hosts India will face a modern Test issue

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

THE Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) remains insulated from the threat of Indian players featuring in cash-rich short-form leagues (10 overs, 100 balls as well as 20 overs) coming up all across the globe. However, that's not the case as other boards continue to bleed players to more lucrative deals on a short-term basis. They will come within handshaking distance of this issue when New Zealand tours India for a three-match red-ball series in October. Trent Boult is already without a central contract. Devon Conway, Finn Allen and Kane Willliamson all declined central contracts in the latest round of deals earlier this month. While it's assumed that Williamson and Conway, central figures in the Black Caps' win over India in the final of the inaugural World Test Championship in 2021, will both be available to play all of the three Tests in India, the winter is here.

Conway and Williamson, in essence, signed what can be called 'casual contracts' to be eligible for South Africa's IPL equivalent in the beginning of next year. "The decision to move away from a central playing contract isn't one I have taken lightly, but I believe it is the best for me and my family at this present time," the southpaw was quoted as saying by icc-cricket.com. Tim Southee, their Test captain, echoed his views on the subject when he was in Mumbai for an awards function. The warning signs and the impending danger to Test cricket have been going on for a while and players themselves have been klaxoning about it for a while.

Proposal to help Test cricket's poorer nations

Which is just as well because a Cricket Australia (CA) proposal, crucially backed by Jay Shah, ergo BCCI, according to a report in the Sydney Morning Herald, could be formally indoctrinated by the ICC. If all goes well, the fund would have close to $15mn for the express purpose of a guaranteed 'minimum payment', as well as footing the funding for 'teams travelling overseas', according to the SMH. The report has pegged the guaranteed amount at about $10000.

ULTIMATE TABLE TENNIS

Patience and faith: Paddler Ayhika Mukherjee's mantra for success

KALYANI MANGALE @ Chennai

AYHIKA Mukherjee has a tattoo on each of her wrist. One on her right wrist says "Sabr" (the Urdu word for patience) and the one on the left wrist says "Let Go and Let God". "These are close to my heart and they have helped me a lot," Mukherjee said after her side Puneri Paltan beat Ahmedabad SG Pipers 10-5 to launch their campaign of Ultimate Table Tennis here on Friday.

"I don't have patience, I could say. That is why I put this word here: patience. So I could see it and remind myself that I need to be patient," Mukherjee added. She used that 'wrist advice' while facing Bernadette Szocs of Romania, world no. 13 in a women's singles match.

Picked as their numero uno by Puneri Paltan for her ability to shock the higher-ranked players Mukherjee let her paddle do the talking against the Romanian. Her performance came at a time when Paltan's team captain, Joao Monteiro, had to surrender his lead against his counterpart Manush Shah. Such is the format of the Ultimate Table Tennis that winning each game counts towards the final tally. With Paltan 1-2 down, Mukherjee was the underdog, but she did not let anything affect her. After taking the 5-3 lead in the first game, the 27-year-old maintained it to take the first game to level 2-2 with Pipers. A similar pattern continued in the second game as the Romanian could not recover. There was no escape for the international player as Mukhrjee's spin continued to trouble Szocs even in the final game. From 1-2 after the first match, Paltan had turned the tables to go 4-2 against the UTT debutant, SG Pipers, which ultimately set the foundation for their victory.

"Ahmedabad is a strong team. She (Szocs) is the highest-ranked player we have this season, male or female, and I was excited to play her. I was happy because I have always loved playing against them. It turned out well for me. I think, she was having some problems facing me, but I am sure the next time we face each other, she will come back stronger. I have been seeing her since my junior days. I like to watch her matches. Recently I saw her playing against Manika Batra. I guess (watching her up close) helped a lot here. I could say I was able to read her well," Mukherjee simplified.

This was not the first time the Asian Games Bronze medallist had stunned players better ranked than her. Earlier this year, while representing India at the ITTF World Team Table Tennis Championships in Busan, Mukherjee grabbed headlines when she outfoxed world no. 1 Sun Yingsha 3-1 (12-10, 2-11, 13-11, 11-6), to give her team a headstart. When asked if these giant-killing methods are turning out to be like an addiction, Mukherjee laughed before politely declining it. "It's not like an addiction or anything to beat the top players, but I do enjoy the competition against the best players," she said.

This was just the first fixture of the UTT for Paltan in the fifth season of the competition. More challenges are waiting for them. If they are to win their first title, Mukherjee might have to come up with such a performance again and again.

KEEPING ELEPHANTS AWAY FROM THE Scent of Liquor IS A PRESSING CHALLENGE

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

WHILE India houses the highest population of Asiatic elephants, the shortage of fodder, water and forest fragmentation are among the prime reasons why they wander out of their habitat. The cultivation of delicious food by farmers like banana, paddy, sugarcane and maize in the forest periphery, too, are a big draw. Add to that the presence of breweries, distilleries and even liquor sales counters in the border areas of forests. They are a significant trigger for the increase in man-elephant conflicts.

The issue of intoxicants figured in a meeting of southern states held in Bengaluru on August 12, on the occasion of World Elephant Day. Forest department officials from Odisha shared the concern, saying elephants are getting attracted to mahua.

The 2022-23 elephant census report showed that India houses over 30,000 elephants, spread across 1,10,000 sq km. At 6,049, their highest population is in Karnataka, followed by Assam at 5,719, Kerala 3,054, Tamil Nadu 2 761 and Odisha 1,976. In 2023, Andhra Pradesh had around 100, which in 2024 increased to 142. There are 33 elephant reserves in India, spanning 65,000 sq km. Of this, the southern states have Dandeli, Mysuru, Wayanad, Nilambur, Anamudi, Periyar, Agasthiyamalai, Srivilliputhur, Anamalai, Coimbatore, Raya and Nilgiri elephant reserves.

The meeting decided on a 13-point charter, called the Bengaluru Charter, for all the states to sign and submit to the Central government for implementation. But the charter does not include addressing the presence of distilleries, breweries and liquor sales counters. However, the subject was discussed during the meeting with farmers. It was decided that each state will work at it independently towards taking up a survey and arriving at a policy decision on the matter. "Sales and brewing of liquor should not be allowed 10 km near forest areas," was agreed upon. It was also decided to involve all stakeholders in addressing the issue in their respective states, as it is also leading to human casualties.

A senior forest department official from Karnataka said: "Distilleries — legal or illegal — are a concern. It is a known fact that elephants are attracted to liquor. Hooch, arrack and mahua are just some names. There have been instances where excise departments, panchayats and even forest department staffers have not been aware of the brewing of illicit liquor, but elephants have smelt it and raided the village, drinking up liquor stored in underground tanks and getting into conflict after that. Such things need to be checked."

In the case of Tamil Nadu, the concern is of the sales of liquor. "The stretch from Hosur to Kanniyakumari needs to be surveyed to address the sales of liquor. The subject has been flagged to the concerned departments. The concern is not just limited to one state, but to the entire country. We do not want people to buy/consume liquor and then walk home because inebriated people do not realise they are getting in close proximity to elephant areas and land up in conflict with them, leading to even deaths," said the senior forest department official.

Given the revenue liquor brings to the exchequer, the matter should be dealt with very delicately, an official from Odisha said. "First the illegal ones need to be closed down. In some incidents, it has also been noticed that people coming in conflict were in an inebriated condition. Thus, this is not an issue to be addressed by just one department. All stakeholders should be collectively involved."

Officials from Kerala concurred, but cautioned that it is a Herculean task as many income groups would be affected, more so the labour class and the lower income groups working in estates, fields and even in forest lands.

Experts, however, point out that it is easier said than done. "A collective approach is needed in tackling this issue as many industries and sectors are involved. The concern of each state should be looked at individually as the livelihoods of people and an entire economic cycle will need to be addressed. It can, however, start with the elephant corridors and forest boundaries. A start can be made in states like Tamil Nadu, Kerala and Karnataka where courts have given directions to strengthen elephant corridors. But every step needs to be taken with caution as human-wildlife conflict has started to take an ugly turn in recent times with deaths on both sides on the rise. The help of NGOs and local activists can be taken," said a farmer expert.

OP SIGUR IN THE NILGIRIS

There are 821 constructions inside the Sigur elephant corridor, most of them built illegally without approval. The Tamil Nadu government, to start with, will demolish 35 illegal resorts as part of its efforts to clean up the corridor and ensure safe passage for the gentle giants

S V KRISHNA CHAITANYA @Chennai

ON August 16, executive officers of Sholur and Masinagudi town panchayats in the Nilgiris district of Tamil Nadu issued demolition notices to 35 resorts, calling them unauthorised constructions. The notice said the buildings were constructed without proper permission and violate sections 56 and 57 of the Tamil Nadu Town and Country Planning Act, 1971. The resorts have been under lock and seal since 2018 following the Supreme Court's orders.

The resort owners were directed to demolish the buildings within 15 days, failing which the government will raze them and recover the cost from the owners, read a notice issued to Mist View Farm House, a 7,200 sq ft unapproved resort located in Bokkapuram.

While there is no indication of resort owners voluntarily pulling down the structures, the Nilgiris district administration is gearing up for 'Operation Sigur'. If carried out, it will be one of the biggest clean-up acts undertaken by the Tamil Nadu government.

The issue is not just about building violations. These resorts are sitting right in the middle of one of the important and fragile elephant corridors — The Sigur Elephant Corridor — in the country. It is one of its kind connecting the Western and Eastern Ghats facilitating easy movement of thousands of Asiatic elephants from Karnataka, Tamil Nadu and Kerala.

Explaining why illegal resorts and other encroachments need to be removed to restore the integrity of the Sigur corridor, a senior forest official told TNIE, elephants from Nilambur, Wayanad, Bandipur, Nagarhole and Mudumalai take the Sigur plateau since it is the only flat route available for large herds between Nilgiris high slopes and the Moyar gorge.

"The elephant herds cross Thorappalay and move either towards Manradiar-Singara or Theppakadu-Masinagudi. Already, due to high human habitations and agricultural activities, the habitat near Bokkapuram and Masinagudi is degraded. The narrow strip between Bokkapuram and Masinagudi is occupied by these unauthorised resorts blocking the passage of elephants. Once they cross this barrier, elephants enter the Sigur range, which offers a wide variety of grass. Another block is Thengumarahada. During summer, elephants congregate near Thengumarahada and Hallimoyar because of the Bhavani Sagar reservoir. As they move further, herds enter the Eastern Ghats near Dhimbham, Hasanur. This is the point where herds coming from Eastern Ghats like Dharmapuri and Krishnagiri meet their distant relatives from the Western Ghats and gene pool exchange happens, which is crucial for a healthy elephant population. This is why the forest department has fought so hard to secure the corridor," the official said.

Development in the region started in the 1960-70s. The workers who were brought for the construction of Moyar Hydroelectric powerhouse and Pyakara powerhouse at Singara stayed back and settled there. Slowly the population grew and outsiders started coming in the 1990s and built resorts. For then on, things went out of control and a tourism boom happened. With unregulated footfall came the conflict and the habitat degraded.

Also, from the Bison valley view point, Sigur bridge to Mavanalla, it is a bull elephant bastion. "There are at least 15-20 male elephants, including Rivaldo, in this area which are very crucial for the entire population. The resort, which threw a burning tyre on an elephant that succumbed to the burn injuries later, is located in this crucial area."

Recently, TNIE did an aerial survey of a section of the fragmented Sigur corridor. What was seen were not small resorts. For instance, the Jungle Retreat owned by one Rohan Mathies in Bokkapuram spans over 56,000 sq ft with 21 buildings inside the property. It was built in 2001. The approval was obtained for residential use but was used for commercial purposes. Likewise, Jungle Hut run by his brother Vikram Mathias is spread over 17,665 sq ft with 20 buildings inside. Temple festivals pose another major challenge as lakhs of pilgrims throng the forest areas, play loud music the whole night, illuminate the area with bright lights and use forest firewood for cooking. Bokkapuram temple festival is one classic example.

As per the Plan of Action report filed by the then Nilgiris district collector J Innocent Divya before the Supreme Court, a copy of which is available with TNIE, there are a total of 39 resorts inside the Sigur elephant corridor with 309 buildings. (see graphic)

Sources in the Nilgiris district collectorate say, as of now, only the locked and sealed resort buildings will be demolished. A decision on the other encroachments will be taken at a later stage.

The resort owners, who face action, argue that the government was not acting fairly in the enforcement of laws. While some buildings face demolition, many others in the region, including commercial establishments, religious institutions and government buildings continue to operate without similar scrutiny. Local communities argue that the demolition orders disproportionately target a few resorts and homestays, threatening their livelihoods and the local economy.

DEPLETION OF FISH STOCK TRIGGERS CONFLICT BETWEEN TRADITIONAL FISHERMEN AND TRAWL BOATS

MANOJ VISWANATHAN @Kochi

THE depletion of fish stock in the coastal sea, caused by the rapid warming of the Arabian Sea has triggered tension between the traditional fishermen and trawl boat operators in Kerala. On August 16, traditional fishermen from the Kochi harbour chased and detained two trawl boats alleging they were indulging in illegal fishing. Fishermen gathered in large numbers in front of the fisheries department office and staged a road blockade demanding stringent action against trawl boats.

The traditional fishermen allege that bottom trawling by mechanised boats is destroying the marine habitat, which adversely affects the spawning of fish species. Bottom trawling is the practice of dragging the net through the seafloor. Besides, some boats are found involved in pair trawling where two boats drag the net parallelly catching everything on the surface water. The fishermen were forced to launch the agitation following depletion of fish stocks in the coastal waters, which has started affecting their livelihood. They say popular species like oil sardine and Indian mackerel have disappeared from the coastal waters.

The trawl boats are using banned pelagic fishing nets, which destroy the marine habitat and catch even juvenile fish and eggs. "The fisheries department has ignored our pleas to initiate stringent action against unsustainable fishing practices," said fishermen union leader Jackson Pollayil.

However, trawl boat owners allege that the fishing practice of the traditional fishermen is causing depletion of fish stock. "The ring seine and purse seine nets used by the inboard engine boats of traditional fishermen are destroying the marine habitat. These nets are 1.5 km long and the mesh size is only 10 mm. The government has banned the use of nets with mesh size lesser than 23 mm, said boat owners association leader Joseph Xavier Kalappurackal.

However, researchers say the warming of the Arabian Sea is the key factor that has caused depletion of fish stocks in Kerala's coastal waters. According to a study, the Arabian Sea is witnessing accelerated warming at the rate of 0.18 degree Celsius per decade, which is much higher than the Pacific and the Atlantic Ocean.

The surface water temperature is a key factor contributing to the survival and breeding of the marine species. For example, the ambient temperature for spawning and recruitment of oil sardine is below 26 degree Celsius. When the temperature exceeds the threshold, it affects the physiology of the species and the ovarian development is disrupted. "There are studies that underscore the co-relation between monsoon rainfall and oil sardine spawning. When the rainfall is deficient, the oil sardine catch will decline," said researcher and founder vice chancellor of Kerala University of Fisheries and Ocean Studies, Dr B Madhusoodana Kurup.

The second factor is over exploitation of marine resources. The government has introduced a Minimum Legal Size (MLS) for capture of around 60 fish species. If the presence of juvenile fish in the catch is more than 40%, the fisheries department will impose a fine of Rs 2.5 lakh on the fishing boat.

However, Dr Madhusoodana Kurup says the criteria to fix the MLS is quite unscientific. "The MLS for oil sardine has been fixed at 10 cm. But studies prove that the minimum size of maturity for this species is 14-16 cm. So we are catching the juveniles without giving a chance to spawn even once during its life span. By allowing fishermen to exploit juvenile fish we are denying the species the opportunity to attain maturity. This is the reason for depletion of fish stocks," he explained.

El Nino has also led to the depletion of fish stock in Kerala's coastal water this year. As the dwelling grounds get warm, the fish species are forced to migrate to deeper waters. The spawning ground of the oil sardine is at a depth of 30 fathoms. When the temperature rises, the intensity of spawning comes down. Pollution and draining of micro plastics into the sea are other reasons.

"The depletion of fish stocks is an inter annual fluctuation and this is a temporary phenomenon," said Central Marine Fisheries Research Institute director Dr Grinson George. "The inter annual fluctuations were reported even in the pre-independence era. These are driven by many factors like climate change. The fish stocks of India are at a sustainable level. As per studies, our potential harvestable resource is 5.31 million tonnes and we are catching 3.5 million tonnes a year. The stocks are at biologically sustainable levels. There are many factors that cause depletion of fish stocks, which include extreme climatic events and overfishing," he said.

According to Dr Grinson George, the fish landing in Kerala reported a decline from the last quarter of 2023 till the first half of the second quarter of 2024 due to the marine heat wave. The warming of the Arabian Sea can affect certain species. But there is only a resource fluctuation, which is temporary and cyclic.

"There have been seasonal fluctuations, which are caused by extreme climatic events like the rise in sea surface temperature. Marine resources and composition have changed and climate change and overfishing can be contributing factors. The annual monsoon trawl ban has helped improve the resources. Now people are demanding to impose a trawl ban during the Northeast monsoon period also, as it is the spawning season of certain species. A fish should be allowed to breed at least once during its lifespan," he said.

In Bengaluru recently, actor Vidya Balan, known for her iconic roles like Manjulika and Silk, talks about staying afloat in the film industry, her love for sarees, and her desire to try out comedy

'I COMPLETELY LOST MY CONFIDENCE'

POOJA DAS

SHE radiates that perfect blend of cheeky humour and grace. Donning beautiful handwoven black attire with patterned gold accents, she captivates her audience, just as she once did with her famous one-liner, "Entertainment, Entertainment, Entertainment."

Renowned actor Vidya Balan was recently in the city to promote handloom and textiles at an event organised by FICCI FLO. "I love Bengaluru. I'm so happy that the weather is so gorgeous today – coming from Mumbai, it's such a welcome change, it was so much fun and I laughed a lot! I am going back happy!" Balan tells us before dashing off to catch her flight back to Mumbai.

The iconic actor is known for her love of sarees and has emerged as an ambassador for handlooms and local artisans in recent years. "I believe we first need to celebrate the weaves that only this country produces. The more we begin to wear it, the more it becomes a part of our identity. We should tell people that 'there is no one way to wear a saree; wear it the way you want. It's the most versatile garment, and you can style it for any occasion,'" shares Balan.

> I do a lot of comedy on Instagram, but in the film industry, they don't really write comedy roles for female actors.. I would love the opportunity to at least try my hand at comedy
>
> Vidya Balan, actor

The 45-year-old actor, who is also seen as an icon for body positivity, says that the saree has always meant comfort for her. "You don't have to struggle to fit into it. It allows you to be your most authentic self," she says with a smile. "The saree has been with me through various sizes in my life, and I always feel sexy and confident when I wear one. It's very important to feel sexy at any age."

Revealing her process of preparing for roles, she laughs, "I get bored with being myself a lot. Acting allows me to create excitement in my life by living another person's life. Whatever it takes for me to completely transform into that character, I'm ready to do it. There's always some preparation involved in every film I've done, except maybe Bhool Bhulaiyaa which was just me." The actor's role in the hit 2007 film as Avni Chaturvedi, embodying the malevolent spirit Manjulika, became a resounding success; a role that she will be reprising in Bhool Bhulaiyaa 3, set for a Deepavali release.

Reflecting on her roles in biopics such as The Dirty Picture, where she played South film icon Silk Smitha, and Bengaluru's 'Human Computer' Shakuntala Devi in the film of the same name, Balan expresses how these films profoundly impacted her. "These films impacted me more than any other because they were about real people – people who were real flesh and blood, not just figments of someone's imagination. Both films liberated me greatly," she shares.

Before all the success, Balan had to brave tough challenges early on in her career. "I faced a lot of rejection initially in the South. I was replaced in about 12 films. I was even labelled a jinx in the Malayalam film industry. I completely lost my confidence. But every experience, when I look back now, made me who I am today, and I like who I am today," she reflects. "All the setbacks were part of my journey."

The actor, who is known for her powerful performances in films like Kahaani and Begum Jaan, also expresses a strong desire to experiment with comedy. "I do a lot of comedy on Instagram, but in the film industry, they don't really write comedy roles for female actors. There used to be someone like Sridevi, who did wonderful work in comedy films like ChaalBaaz and Mr India. I would love the opportunity to at least try my hand at comedy," says Balan, whose comedy reels have made her popular on social media.

CITY of Joy they call it! City of corruption, low moral-standards, misogyny and kathi rolls! Do you think I am being harsh and insensitive to a city that nurtured the likes of Rabindranath Tagore and Subhash Chandra Bose? A few years ago I roundly cursed a city up north which was the epicentre of a horrific rape that shook us to the very core of our beings. We will consistently hold candle-light marches while 'our-powers-to-be' slide it under the carpet either because one of their own was implicated or because it shows up the glaring lacunas in our law and order situation. Whatever it is, it is just a mere woman problem. Women will yell, scream and tear at their hair while patriarchal men will contribute their two pennies worth by saying, "We are bringing up our boys all wrong". That too is the 'mothers' responsibility. Never mind even if we are coerced into take amino-synthesis tests and forced to abort our female foetuses...ultimately the buck stops here, with the women. It's always the way we dress, move, talk or behave that gets us into trouble. Some man somewhere wants us to toe the line and teach us who's 'boss'. Rape has nothing to do with sexual gratification; it has everything to do with power! The rapists don't gratify themselves and leave. They always mutilate, stab, break our pelvic girdle, and pull our intestines out. Why? Because they can, and sadly, get away with it.

There are outrages against women the world over. I remember once participating in a survey which asked a pertinent question; which country or city do you find is the safest for women. My answer was a no-brainer. None! In my opinion the means doesn't justify the end. The legal prosecution and ultimate persecution of the accused are almost 0.002 per cent. Often societal pressure and pressure from the family doesn't allow the victim to complain as the whole process is extremely humiliating and distressing for the victim. Court proceedings are long and voyeuristic and often the victim withdraws the complaint. Very rarely is there redressal and the whole process takes a terrible mental, physical and monetary toll on the victims' families.

But what I ask is when we know somebody is a predator and even though he hasn't been prosecuted but the hapless victims have complained, he is still allowed to roam free and unhampered amongst us because he has the right connections and the right amount of money to flash around in 'decent' circles. How many of us have the courage to confront or black-ball him? His story is flashed for everyone to see yet they give him the benefit of the doubt, as he flashes his mucilaginous smile while he is welcomed amongst 'decent' society? Are we all not compliant to his heinous crimes?

I was laid up with the worst flu ever and such dour thoughts didn't make me feel better. So when I was invited to celebrate at good pal Riyaaz Amlani's resto-pub, 'Social' in Koramangala I went. Chef Saurabh Arora pulled out all the old favourite treats for their tenth anniversary and it was wonderful to sit in the comfort of the sprawling restaurant, listening to rock-music and delving into the world's tastiest burger and sesame prawn-toasts.

Seethe and smile. That's life!

Langoti Man faces backlash over its title and teaser scene

MOVE over Superman, Spider-Man, and Batman—there's a new hero in town, and he's wearing something you'd never expect! Enter Langoti Man, the Kannada comedy film that's set to have audiences rolling in the aisles with laughter. Directed by Sanjotha Bhandari and starring newcomer Akash Rambo, this film boldly ventures into the world of unconventional heroes, offering something truly unique.

Actor Sharan has officially launched the teaser for Langoti Man, and it's as unique as it gets. In a world dominated by capes and masks, Langoti Man stands out—literally and figuratively—clad in traditional Indian underclothing known as a langoti. The teaser has already sparked curiosity, with Sharan himself praising the team for their bold approach to such an unconventional concept. For those unfamiliar, a langoti is a one-piece cotton cloth traditionally worn by Indian men as underclothing. Now, it's the iconic costume of a hero unlike any other. Langoti Man is set to redefine the superhero genre, blending traditional attire with a fresh comedic twist. Sharan also praised Akash Rambo for stepping far out of his comfort zone to bring Langoti Man to life, noting the actor's evident dedication as he aces the role with an energy that promises to make the film an unforgettable comedic experience.

While Langoti Man, directed by Sanjotha Bhandari, who has previously directed Mirchi Mandaki Chai, has garnered positive attention overall, it has also faced some backlash from certain sections of the Brahmin community. The controversy stems from the title and a particular scene in the teaser, where the hero, Theertha Kumar, played by Akash Rambo, is shown being chased by the police while wearing a langoti (a piece of cloth). This depiction hasn't gone down well with some viewers.

Director Sanjotha Bhandari, however, stands by the film's concept, urging not to jump to conclusions. "I'm open to constructive feedback," Sanjotha said, inviting viewers to explore the film's deeper meaning before passing judgment. She explained that the teaser only offers a glimpse of the story from the hero's perspective, and the full narrative will unfold in the film. Sanjotha emphasised that Langoti Man is not intended to offend; rather, it highlights the historical significance of the langoti as a universal piece of clothing, not bound to any specific religion or tradition.

The film's cast includes Dhirendra, Mahalakshmi, Samhita Vinya, Huli Karthik, Gilli Nata, Sneha Rishi, Auto Nagaraj, and Pawan. The team, now in post-production, is set to announce the release date soon.

POWDER REVELS IN EASYGOING FUN AND UNCOMPLICATED LAUGHS

A SHARADHAA

POWDER
Director: Janardhan Chikkanna
Cast: Diganth, Rangayana Raghu, Sharmiela Mandre, Dhanya Ramkumar, Anirudh Acharya, Ravi Shankar Gowda, and Nagabhushana

EVER wondered what happens when a shipment gets mixed up? Hold on to your seats because this film takes you on a ride with a consignment that swaps its identity, leading to a chaotic and hilarious chain of events.

With Powder, director Janardhan Chikkanna makes his comedic debut, and producers KRG Studios and TVF (The Viral Fever) aim to deliver something refreshingly different. And that's exactly what you get—forget traditional setups often seen in regular comedies; Powder thrives on its unique brand of hilarity, revelling in a playful rebellion against logic and subtlety. While the humour might take a moment to fully kick in, it eventually delivers a non-stop laugh fest. Let Powder take you on a comedic rollercoaster where the only rule is to leave your expectations at the door.

Meet Annachi (Rangayana Raghu), a man with lofty ambitions who decides to smuggle what we are told is talcum powder from China to India. But in the world of smuggling, things rarely go as planned. Enter the colourful cast: Surya (Diganth), who works at a department store in Mysuru, lives with his friend Karan (Anirudh Acharya), and is in love with Nithya (Dhanya Ramkumar), a nurse.

The film introduces a host of characters, not just one after another but in parallel, weaving them into the plot. However, veteran actor Jaggesh's narration helps keep the chaos understandable, giving us a backstory for each character, including Sulaiman (Gopal Krishna Deshpande), a competitor to Annachi who is also eyeing the powder consignment. Add to the mix Pawan (Ravi Shankar), searching for a bride, and Mallika (Sharmiela Mandre), who is dealing with a broken marriage at the mandap. She's not someone you want to mess with—one wrong move, and she'll knock you out. She is also part of the smuggling gang. However, the gang leader, named Bruce Lee, keeps his identity under wraps.

Things get interesting when Annachi's consignment arrives, leading to a whirlwind of code mix-ups, misplaced shipments, and a supermarket showdown. The mix-up involves original powder, duplicate boxes, and talcum disguised as something far more valuable.

The famous supermarket in Mysuru becomes the stage for a madcap chase. Surya, Karan, and Nithya know this isn't just any powder—it's worth crores! But will the trio, Mallika or Annachi manage to recover it in time, or will the consignment be lost forever?

Gultoo director Janardhan Chikkanna, working from a story by Deepak Venkatesh, takes a detour from his logical roots in Powder, diving headfirst into a whirlwind of dark humour and absurdity. In essence, Powder leans more towards casual amusement than deep entertainment. The first half, with its many characters, may drift by unnoticed, and the second half can be confusing. Overall, the narration could use more clarity. Combined with Vasuki Vaibhav's music and Advaith Gurumurthy behind the camera, the film's VFX is an attempt at uniqueness.

The cast is packed with experienced actors. Rangayana Raghu shines with his amusing portrayal, while Diganth, Dhanya Ramkumar, and Anirudh Acharya consistently entertain. Sharmiela Mandre steps into a fresh, distinctive role. Ravi Shankar Gowda brings humour, while Gopal Krishna Deshpande and Nagabhushana add unique elements to the film. Huli Karthik performs his role with skill.

This film is a riotous blend of drug mafias, international dealers, local gangsters, and the innocents, all wrapped up in comedic chaos where the only rule is: Everyone should laugh; that's what counts! If quirky, dark humour and offbeat storytelling tickle your fancy, Powder might just be your weekend watch.
